U. S. Protests Red Air Attacks

American, Red Jets On Prowl In Hainan Area

Fighters On Aerial Sweeps Buzz Three Commercial Planes

HONG KONG, Wednesday, July 28 (AP)—U.S. and Red jets yesterday prowled the uneasy skies off Hainan, where a British airliner was shot down last week and U.S. fighters bagged two Red planes Sunday.

Commercial planes were flying far south of Hainan Island, the Red air and sea base off the South China coast. Even so, three airliners reported they were buzzed by U.S. or Red jets as far as 120 miles away from Hainan.

Angry Protests Exchanged

In the tense situation, Peiping and Washington exchanged angry protests over the Sunday affair in which U.S. carrier planes shot down two Red propeller planes while guarding a search for survivors from the airliner. Peiping demanded the United States "cease immediately these aggressive acts" or it would be held "entirely responsible."

Only eight of 18 aboard were saved when two Red planes shot down the airliner Friday off Hainan. Peiping apologized to Britain, but London in a note yesterday accused Red China of violating "international custom and behavior" in hampering rescue operations.

The extent of the U.S. and Communist aerial sweeps in the South China Sea was unfolded by pilots of the three airliners as they landed in Hong Kong from Bangkok.

U. S. Jets Escort Airliner

Capt. Jacques Brugger, pilot of an Air France Constellation, said four planes—"we think they were MIGS (Red jets) but we cannot be sure"—buzzed his plane about 100 miles off Hainan.

He said the four jets followed his plane for four minutes, then barreled across the ship's course and vanished.

Capt. Max C. Weber, pilot of a Pan American plane, said U.S. Navy jets met his plane 120 miles from Hainan and escorted him for several minutes before vanishing.

Capt. Homi B. Misty, pilot of an Air India International plane, said two U.S. jets buzzed him about 80 miles from Hainan and he saw two more about six miles off.

83,000 Soldiers To Quit Defenses Within 20 Months

West May Use Base Against Aggression

CAIRO, Egypt, July 27 (AP)—Britain and Egypt signed an agreement tonight for removal of all 83,000 British troops from the Suez Canal zone defenses but providing that the West may still use the great base against aggression.

Under the agreement the foreign troops will be pulled out within 20 months

After the announcement of agreement, Col. Anwar Sadat, a member of the ruling Council of the Revolution told a reporter: "There is an agreement in principle that Britain and the United States also will provide Egypt with military aid."

Civilian foreign technicians, presumably British, will maintain the base for seven years after the troops leave.

The agreement ending the long dispute between the two countries over the future status of the canal defenses was signed here tonight by Egypt's Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser and British War Minister Antony Head.

Formal Treaty Expected

This preliminary pact, which will take British troops out of Egypt for the first time since 1882, is expected to lead to a formal treaty between the two nations.

Of the more than 83,000 troops in the canal zone, 16,300 are air force men and 18,000 non-British soldiers. Two-thirds of the garrison forces will be flown back to Britain, informed sources in London said. The remaining third will be based elsewhere in the Middle East.

London sources said these troops would all be shifted elsewhere by early 1956. They said the 20-month time limit for evacuation indicated a last-minute compromise on both sides. Egyptian negotiators previously had demanded the British quit the zone within 15 months. Britain had offered to leave within 24 months.

Iran Not Mentioned

The pact made no mention of Iran, which the United States had wanted included among the nations where an attack would permit automatic reoccupation of the zone.

The British - Egyptian negotiations on the zone opened April 23, 1953. They were interrupted several times by deadlocks over certain issues. The biggest stumbling block involved the question of how the base facilities were to be maintained if the British left.

The Suez base cost Britain the equivalent of $1,200,000,000 to build. The Churchill government told the House of Commons in London earlier today it had no intention of providing another base of similar size in the Middle East.

Ike's Program Is OK'd On 13th Day Of Debate

Opens Nuclear Field To Private Industry, Relaxes Secrecy Ban

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Bone-weary senators approved President Eisenhower's sweeping atomic energy program, with some basic changes, tonight on the 13th day of a hot debate.

The tally was 57-28.

The vote approved an omnibus measure opening the atomic field to private industry and authorizing the President to reveal some nuclear secrets to foreign Allies.

The bill goes now to a Senate-House conference where another stiff skirmish, behind closed doors, is expected in ironing out major differences.

The Senate wrote in amendments requiring companies taking part in the atomic power program to share their patents with other concerns for 10 years, and authorizing the Atomic Energy Commission and some other government agencies to operate atomic power plants.

Conflicts With House Bill

The House voted for normal patent rights, except for developments created under government auspices, and specifically barred the AEC from getting into large-scale power production.

Senators who fought to write public power features into the bill have threatened another long battle if they are dropped in conference.

At the finale, the Senate had considered the measure almost exclusively for approximately 168 hours.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland called that a record for concentrated attention on a single measure. The Senate has spent more elapsed time on other bills but it has put them aside in midbebate to handle other matters.

The fight over atomic energy and Knowland's tactics in seeking an early vote carried the Senate into one almost continuous session of 85 hours, 48 minutes and another which ended tonight after lasting nearly 36 hours.

New Security Restrictions

The Senate nailed into the bill an amendment by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) authorizing any federal power agency to operate atomic power plants, if they can get funds from Congress, and giving preference in the sale of power to cooperatives and publicly-owned utilities.

A second amendment, by Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa), gives the same preference for byproduct power now available from present AEC research plants.

The bill also provides:

1. New security restrictions giving the AEC leeway to limit detailed checks to workers in the most sensitive jobs. At the same time the AEC and the Pentagon are instructed to review security regulations periodically and take secrecy labels off non-strategic information.

2. Gives the AEC chairman a more specific position as the commission's "official spokesman," while underwriting the equal authority of all five commissioners.

HOLDS EARLY LEAD — Sen. John L. McClellan (above), who became known to nationwide television audiences through his participation in the McCarthy-Army hearings, took an early lead last night for renomination in the Arkansas Democratic primary. Returns from 192 polling places gave McClellan 10,127 votes to 5,446 for former Gov. Sid McMath.

Appropriate Punishment Is Demanded

Peiping Denounces Destruction Of Two Planes As 'Barbaric'

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The United States today protested to Red China against "the barbarous and lawless attack" of Communist fighter planes against an unarmed British airliner, and their "unprovoked and wanton attack" on U.S. planes searching for the liner's survivors.

In both cases, the United States demanded appropriate and adequate punishment for those responsible and that steps be taken at once "to assure that there be no repetition."

In the case of the three Americans killed and three wounded when the airliner was shot down in the South China Sea last Friday, the United States demanded compensation for the victims and the families of those killed.

There can be no punishment for two of those blamed for the attack on the American planes. They were shot down when the U.S. pilots returned their fire.

Notes Sent Via London

The notes were dispatched through London, where the British government decided on a further protest of its own to the Communists. They were not made public here in textual form but late today the State Department released a summation of them.

The language of the summary was blunt and emphatic far beyond the usual diplomatic niceties.

Meanwhile, there had already come a defiant "grave protest" from Peiping saying the American airmen who shot down the two Red fighters had "carried out barbaric attacks" under pretense of an errand of mercy.

"These acts are a repetition of imperialist America's aggressions," said the statement by Vice Foreign Minister Chang Han-fu of the Peiping regime. It was broadcast and picked up in Tokyo.

Moscow radio called the shooting down of the two Red planes a "serious provocation" and a "gangster attack" by the United States.

Red Gunboat Opened Fire

The U.S. notes were routed through Britain because the United States does not recognize the Chinese Communist government, and Britain does.

As for the other communication, the summary said, after reciting the time and circumstances of the shooting between U.S. and Communist planes:

"The incident occurred well over international waters approximately 13 miles from Hainan.

"United States pilots of the search planes report that during this unprovoked and wanton attack a Chinese Communist gunboat also opened fire on the United States planes which were engaged on a mission of mercy, searching the area of the first attack for possible survivors of the July 23 assault."

French Protest Attacks By Reds Following Truce

HANOI, Indochina, July 26 (AP)—An uneasy truce settled over North Viet Nam today. No one knew whether the peace would last. The weather matched Hanoi's somber mood. Dark storm clouds blotted out the sun.

The Communist - led Vietminh continued attacking a French Union post for several hours after the cease-fire went into effect at 8 a.m. and ambushed a road-opening patrol an hour after the cease-fire, a French briefing officer said tonight. The post attacked was the small garrison at Chi Diem, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi. Ten persons were reported killed when the patrol was ambushed between Hanoi and Haiphong.

French Protest

The French made strong protests regarding both incidents to the Vietminh, who called them "regrettable errors."

The Vietminh had harassed Vietnamese - manned posts in the Red River Delta throughout the night and right up to the time the cease-fire became effective.

Fighting in the Delta officially halted seven years, seven months, and seven days after the Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh staged the first Vietminh attack on Hanoi Dec. 19, 1946. Estimated casualties range between 700,000 and a million.

The cease-fire will progress in stages through this war-battered country. It will extend to central Viet Nam Aug. 1, Laos Aug. 6, Cambodia Aug. 7, and South Viet Nam Aug. 11.

No Celebration In Hanoi

Despite the numerous small attacks, there were no reports any French Union posts fell to the Vietminh in the closing hours.

Hanoi staged no celebrations for the cease-fire in the Delta, which the French must evacuate within 10 months. Hanoi itself must be turned over to the Vietminh within 80 days as the departing French and their anti-Communist Vietnamese allies north of the cease-fire line along the 17th Parallel pull out toward the coast.

American Agent, Friend Of John, Takes Own Life

BERLIN, July 27 (AP)—U.S. authorities disclosed today that an American counterintelligence agent shot and killed himself in Berlin a day after the disappearance of Dr. Otto John came to light.

The agent, a German-born naturalized American, was known to have been a friend of Dr. John, former head of West Germany's political security service who vanished in Communist East Berlin a week ago.

Dead Agent Identified

The Pentagon in Washington identified him as Wolfgang E. Hoeffer. His next of kin was listed as a cousin, Gertrude Venner of New York City. The identification had been withheld by the Army here pending notification of kin.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today ordered a full-dress government investigation of West Germany's maze of intelligence agencies. He said "I regard the disappearance of Dr. John as very serious."

U.S. officials here discouraged reports linking the agent's suicide Friday with John's disappearance in the Soviet sector July 20.

Loyalty Not Questioned

They declined to discuss the motive, but said the agent was not suspected of disloyalty to the United States.

An official American spokesman denied that the agent, who held the rank of a captain in the Counter Intelligence Corps, was being questioned by other CIC officers at the time he took his life in his billet here.

Sailors Stranded With Spuds, Eggs

BRIGHTON, England, July 27 (AP)—Stormy seas and winds stranded the captain and 40 crewmen of the U.S. destroyer Glennon tonight in this south coast pleasure resort. With them are two tons of potatoes and five crates of eggs.

Cmdr. W. R. McClintock, skipper of the Glennon, which is making a courtesy call here, left his ship yesterday along with 30 crewmen for a brief trip ashore.

Another 10 men sailed ashore in a small boat to bring in the potatoes and eggs.

Government May Quit Production Of Helium

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The government may seek to turn over to private industry the almost complete monopoly in helium production it has operated for more than 30 years.

Secretary of the Interior McKay announced today his approval of that and other recommendations made by a five-man survey team for a major reorganization of the U.S. Bureau of Mines. He directed that in so far as possible, the 39 recommendations be put into effect within six months. Many dealt with organizational details of the bureau.

They included also suggestions that the government get out of commercial production of titanium and zirconium, which like helium, are extremely important in the defense program.

Tentative House Approval Given Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The House today tentatively approved a bill appropriating $5,208,419,979 to finance for the present fiscal year the program of military and economic aid to non-Communist nations.

A formal rollcall vote sending the bill to the Senate was put off until tomorrow after a motion to return the measure to the Appropriations Committee was shouted down.

Further Cuts Rejected

Administration forces, aided by Democrats, were in control all the way as the House beat down decisively every proposal to make further cuts from funds recommended by the committee.

The committee already had chopped $812,213,554 from funds requested by President Eisenhower. The House sustained those cuts but declined to go beyond them after Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind) declared that the President felt further reductions would be dangerous.

Implements Separate Bill

The bill implements a separate measure, already passed by the House, authorizing continuance of the foreign aid program initiated after World War II. The authorization bill has not yet been considered by the Senate.

The appropriation measure allots $2,895,944,000 in new cash and $2,312,475,979 in unobligated balances from money appropriated in previous years.

The President had asked for $3,438,549,805 in new cash and $2,582,083,728 in reappropriations for a total of $6,020,633,533.

Rhee Pessimistic On Unified Korea

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, who has called repeatedly for a unified Korea, said at the White House today he sees no possibility of winning it "by a peaceful means."

He also said that while he and President Eisenhower had discussed increased military aid for his republic "in a general way," he had not come to Washington "to demand larger aid."

"We have been receiving aid without begging," the proud, 79-year-old Korean leader said. "We are not beggars — we are beneficiaries."

American aid has helped equip the 600,000-man army in South Korea, the largest anti-Communist force in Asia. Also U.S. economic aid has been flowing to Rhee's war-battered country at the rate of 200 million dollars a year.

With the Communists firmly entrenched in North Korea, Rhee was asked if he and Eisenhower, in their opening talks today, had gone into the question of possibly resuming the war. Rhee didn't answer the question directly but said:

"We see no possibility of unifying Korea by peaceful means. I think you will agree on that."

Former Sen. Ransdell Of Louisiana Dead

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., July 27 (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. Joseph E. Ransdell, who served Louisiana in Congress for 32 years, died today at his home here. He was 95.

Beall, Butler Voted Yes

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The 57—28 vote by which the Senate tonight passed the atomic energy bill included:

Republicans for:
Beall and Butler, Maryland.

Democrats Against:
Kilgore and Neely, West Virginia.

Ike OKs Fire Compact

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP) — President Eisenhower signed today a bill granting the consent of Congress to formation of a forest fire fighting compact among 10 Southeastern states.

Ellis Island Immigration Center May Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Famous Ellis Island, through which millions of immigrants have come to the United States, may be abandoned by the government.

The Justice Department said today that Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing recently inspected government properties at Edgewater, N.J., in connection with the possible establishment of a major immigration center there.

It said, in response to a inquiry, that the survey was made in connection with the consideration that is being given to abandoning Ellis Island as the main immigration station in New York harbor, and removal of its facilities to Edgewater.

Edgewater is just across the Hudson River from Manhattan in New York City.

Congressmen from New York City are up in arms against the possible transfer. Department officials said no final decisions have been reached. Ellis Island has been an immigration station since 1892.

The Immigration Service has been examining the matter because of the view of some officials that the Ellis Island functions could be carried out at Edgewater more conveniently and with less expense.

Fifteen Democratic House members from New York City have written Atty. Gen. Brownell expressing "dismay" at the proposal.

They said there are adequate and "highly desirable" facilities on Ellis Island and "it would cost one million dollars just to build detention quarters in a new building."

Ike Hopes To Use Md. Hunting Tag

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower has assured Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin he hopes to put the Maryland hunting license sent to him last week to good use this fall.

"I think you should know," the President wrote, "that I am just as avid a hunter as I am golfer, but somehow or other the former occupation seems a little more difficult these days. Nonetheless, I'm delighted to have Maryland complimentary hunting license No. 1 for the 1954 season, and I shall hope that I have an opportunity to use it."

Eisenhower makes frequent trips into Maryland and has a weekend retreat at Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains north of Frederick.

McCarthy-Army Row Probers Sent Briefs

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 27 (AP)—Ray H. Jenkins today mailed to the Senate Investigating subcommittee condensations and briefs on the controversial McCarthy-Army hearings.

Jenkins, special counsel for the subcommittee in the nationally-televised hearings in Washington, said copies of each document had been mailed to the seven subcommittee members.

Jenkins said he had condensed the 7,400 pages of testimony into 447 pages of the "relevant material" of the hearings.

Penitentiary Inmates Stage Hunger Strike

WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 27 (AP)—More than 1,500 state penitentiary inmates went on a hunger and sitdown strike today in what Warden John Cranor described as "passive resistance" for improvement in "certain conditions."

Cranor said the hunger strike started on a small scale last night when a few men refused to eat. This morning, he said, half the men in the main prison passed through the dining room without eating and by noon the mess hall was virtually empty.

Puromycin, New Antibiotic, Tested On Human Cancers

SAO PAULO, Brazil, July 27 (AP)—A new antibiotic is being tried on human cancer patients after showing good effects in curing breast cancer in mice.

The antibiotic is puromycin, which comes from the same mold family as streptomycin.

Dr. J. J. Oleson of the Lederle Laboratories in Pearl River, N.Y., told the sixth International Cancer Congress here the new mold had abolished 75 per cent of transplanted breast cancers in mice with no recurrences for a year.

Puromycin has little effect on other forms of mouse cancers, Oleson said. Actually, one chemical fragment of the antibiotic is active against breast cancer. The mold works faster when combined with a synthetic drug, thiotepa. Oleson said the antibiotic could be produced in quantity if human tests show it is valuable.

Dr. Jane C. Wright and associates at Harlem Hospital in New York reported two other synthetic drugs have knocked out some forms of cancer in a few humans for as long as three years. These drugs, nicknamed TEM and TEPA, have been given to 110 patients with hopeless advanced cancers.

Best results from these drugs have been obtained in treating lymphomas, which are cancers of the lymph and blood system. TEM brought complete remission or disappearance of disease in eight patients, three of whom had Hodgkin's disease, which attacks the lymph glands; four suffering from lymphosarcomas, and one case of chronic myelogenous leukemia.

One patient who had had cancer of the lymph system remained well for three years, then died. But two others have been free of their previous disease for nearly three years.

Rail Segregation Ban Is Requested

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today pressed at public hearings its request that the Interstate Commerce Commission rule out all racial segregation in interstate train travel.

The case follows up the Supreme Court's recent outlawing of such segregation in the nation's public school system. It hinges on the contention that the old theory of "equal but separate" accomodations is now legally out of date.

The proceeding against train segregation in general is also a sequel to the 1950 ruling by the high court that racial distinctions among passengers in railroad dining cars had to go.

The court in the dining car case cited a provision of the Interstate Commerce Act that no interstate passenger may be subjected to "any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage whatsoever."

The new NAACP proceeding was brought against a dozen major railroads operating in the South. But association attorney Robert Carter of New York indicated that the current hearings could be brief because, he said, seven of the named railroads have entered into stipulations with him conceding that they segregated passengers in the areas where the local law required such segregation.

HANOI, Indochina, July 26 (AP)—An uneasy truce settled over North Viet Nam today. No one knew whether the peace would last. The weather matched Hanoi's somber mood. Dark storm clouds blotted out the sun.

The Communist - led Vietminh continued attacking a French Union post for several hours after the cease-fire went into effect at 8 a.m. and ambushed a road-opening patrol an hour after the cease-fire, a French briefing officer said tonight. The post attacked was the small garrison at Chi Diem, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi. Ten persons were reported killed when the patrol was ambushed between Hanoi and Haiphong.

French Protest

The French made strong protests regarding both incidents to the Vietminh, who called them "regrettable errors."

The Vietminh had harassed Vietnamese - manned posts in the Red River Delta throughout the night and right up to the time the cease-fire became effective.

Fighting in the Delta officially halted seven years, seven months, and seven days after the Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh staged the first Vietminh attack on Hanoi Dec. 19, 1946. Estimated casualties range between 700,000 and a million.

The cease-fire will progress in stages through this war-battered country. It will extend to central Viet Nam Aug. 1, Laos Aug. 6, Cambodia Aug. 7, and South Viet Nam Aug. 11.

No Celebration In Hanoi

Despite the numerous small attacks, there were no reports any French Union posts fell to the Vietminh in the closing hours.

Hanoi staged no celebrations for the cease-fire in the Delta, which the French must evacuate within 10 months. Hanoi itself must be turned over to the Vietminh within 80 days as the departing French and their anti-Communist Vietnamese allies north of the cease-fire line along the 17th Parallel pull out toward the coast.

Appropriate Punishment Is Demanded

Peiping Denounces Destruction Of Two Planes As 'Barbaric'

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The United States today protested to Red China against "the barbarous and lawless attack" of Communist fighter planes against an unarmed British airliner, and their "unprovoked and wanton attack" on U.S. planes searching for the liner's survivors.

In both cases, the United States demanded appropriate and adequate punishment for those responsible and that steps be taken at once "to assure that there be no repetition."

In the case of the three Americans killed and three wounded when the airliner was shot down in the South China Sea last Friday, the United States demanded compensation for the victims and the families of those killed.

There can be no punishment for two of those blamed for the attack on the American planes. They were shot down when the U.S. pilots returned their fire.

Notes Sent Via London

The notes were dispatched through London, where the British government decided on a further protest of its own to the Communists. They were not made public here in textual form but late today the State Department released a summation of them.

The language of the summary was blunt and emphatic far beyond the usual diplomatic niceties.

Meanwhile, there had already come a defiant "grave protest" from Peiping saying the American airmen who shot down the two Red fighters had "carried out barbaric attacks" under pretense of an errand of mercy.

"These acts are a repetition of imperialist America's aggressions," said the statement by Vice Foreign Minister Chang Han-fu of the Peiping regime. It was broadcast and picked up in Tokyo.

Moscow radio called the shooting down of the two Red planes a "serious provocation" and a "gangster attack" by the United States.

Red Gunboat Opened Fire

The U.S. notes were routed through Britain because the United States does not recognize the Chinese Communist government, and Britain does.

As for the other communication, the summary said, after reciting the time and circumstances of the shooting between U.S. and Communist planes:

"The incident occurred well over international waters approximately 13 miles from Hainan.

"United States pilots of the search planes report that during this unprovoked and wanton attack a Chinese Communist gunboat also opened fire on the United States planes which were engaged on a mission of mercy, searching the area of the first attack for possible survivors of the July 23 assault."

American Agent, Friend Of John, Takes Own Life

BERLIN, July 27 (AP)—U.S. authorities disclosed today that an American counterintelligence agent shot and killed himself in Berlin a day after the disappearance of Dr. Otto John came to light.

The agent, a German-born naturalized American, was known to have been a friend of Dr. John, former head of West Germany's political security service who vanished in Communist East Berlin a week ago.

Dead Agent Identified

The Pentagon in Washington identified him as Wolfgang E. Hoeffer. His next of kin was listed as a cousin, Gertrude Venner of New York City. The identification had been withheld by the Army here pending notification of kin.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today ordered a full-dress government investigation of West Germany's maze of intelligence agencies. He said "I regard the disappearance of Dr. John as very serious."

U.S. officials here discouraged reports linking the agent's suicide Friday with John's disappearance in the Soviet sector July 20.

Loyalty Not Questioned

They declined to discuss the motive, but said the agent was not suspected of disloyalty to the United States.

An official American spokesman denied that the agent, who held the rank of a captain in the Counter Intelligence Corps, was being questioned by other CIC officers at the time he took his life in his billet here.

Sailors Stranded With Spuds, Eggs

BRIGHTON, England, July 27 (AP)—Stormy seas and winds stranded the captain and 40 crewmen of the U.S. destroyer Glennon tonight in this south coast pleasure resort. With them are two tons of potatoes and five crates of eggs.

Cmdr. W. R. McClintock, skipper of the Glennon, which is making a courtesy call here, left his ship yesterday along with 30 crewmen for a brief trip ashore.

Another 10 men sailed ashore in a small boat to bring in the potatoes and eggs.

Government May Quit Production Of Helium

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The government may seek to turn over to private industry the almost complete monopoly in helium production it has operated for more than 30 years.

Secretary of the Interior McKay announced today his approval of that and other recommendations made by a five-man survey team for a major reorganization of the U.S. Bureau of Mines. He directed that in so far as possible, the 39 recommendations be put into effect within six months. Many dealt with organizational details of the bureau.

They included also suggestions that the government get out of commercial production of titanium and zirconium, which like helium, are extremely important in the defense program.

Puromycin, New Antibiotic, Tested On Human Cancers

SAO PAULO, Brazil, July 27 (AP)—A new antibiotic is being tried on human cancer patients after showing good effects in curing breast cancer in mice.

The antibiotic is puromycin, which comes from the same mold family as streptomycin.

Dr. J. J. Oleson of the Lederle Laboratories in Pearl River, N.Y., told the sixth International Cancer Congress here the new mold had abolished 75 per cent of transplanted breast cancers in mice with no recurrences for a year.

Puromycin has little effect on other forms of mouse cancers, Oleson said. Actually, one chemical fragment of the antibiotic is active against breast cancer. The mold works faster when combined with a synthetic drug, thiotepa. Oleson said the antibiotic could be produced in quantity if human tests show it is valuable.

Dr. Jane C. Wright and associates at Harlem Hospital in New York reported two other synthetic drugs have knocked out some forms of cancer in a few humans for as long as three years. These drugs, nicknamed TEM and TEPA, have been given to 110 patients with hopeless advanced cancers.

Best results from these drugs have been obtained in treating lymphomas, which are cancers of the lymph and blood system. TEM brought complete remission or disappearance of disease in eight patients, three of whom had Hodgkin's disease, which attacks the lymph glands; four suffering from lymphosarcomas, and one case of chronic myelogenous leukemia.

One patient who had had cancer of the lymph system remained well for three years, then died. But two others have been free of their previous disease for nearly three years.

Tentative House Approval Given Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The House today tentatively approved a bill appropriating $5,208,419,979 to finance for the present fiscal year the program of military and economic aid to non-Communist nations.

A formal rollcall vote sending the bill to the Senate was put off until tomorrow after a motion to return the measure to the Appropriations Committee was shouted down.

Further Cuts Rejected

Administration forces, aided by Democrats, were in control all the way as the House beat down decisively every proposal to make further cuts from funds recommended by the committee.

The committee already had chopped $812,213,554 from funds requested by President Eisenhower. The House sustained those cuts but declined to go beyond them after Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind) declared that the President felt further reductions would be dangerous.

Implements Separate Bill

The bill implements a separate measure, already passed by the House, authorizing continuance of the foreign aid program initiated after World War II. The authorization bill has not yet been considered by the Senate.

The appropriation measure allots $2,895,944,000 in new cash and $2,312,475,979 in unobligated balances from money appropriated in previous years.

The President had asked for $3,438,549,805 in new cash and $2,582,083,728 in reappropriations for a total of $6,020,633,533.

Former Sen. Ransdell Of Louisiana Dead

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., July 27 (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. Joseph E. Ransdell, who served Louisiana in Congress for 32 years, died today at his home here. He was 95.

During his congressional service Ransdell was an ardent advocate of flood control and development of the nation's waterways.

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The 57—28 vote by which the Senate tonight passed the atomic energy bill included:

Beall and Butler, Maryland.

Democrats Against:
Kilgore and Neely, West Virginia.

Rhee Pessimistic On Unified Korea

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, who has called repeatedly for a unified Korea, said at the White House today he sees no possibility of winning it "by a peaceful means."

He also said that while he and President Eisenhower had discussed increased military aid for his republic "in a general way," he had not come to Washington "to demand larger aid."

"We have been receiving aid without begging," the proud, 79-year-old Korean leader said. "We are not beggars — we are beneficiaries."

American aid has helped equip the 600,000-man army in South Korea, the largest anti-Communist force in Asia. Also U.S. economic aid has been flowing to Rhee's war-battered country at the rate of 200 million dollars a year.

With the Communists firmly entrenched in North Korea, Rhee was asked if he and Eisenhower, in their opening talks today, had gone into the question of possibly resuming the war. Rhee didn't answer the question directly but said:

"We see no possibility of unifying Korea by peaceful means. I think you will agree on that."

Ellis Island Immigration Center May Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Famous Ellis Island, through which millions of immigrants have come to the United States, may be abandoned by the government.

The Justice Department said today that Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing recently inspected government properties at Edgewater, N.J., in connection with the possible establishment of a major immigration center there.

It said, in response to a inquiry, that the survey was made in connection with the consideration that is being given to abandoning Ellis Island as the main immigration station in New York harbor, and removal of its facilities to Edgewater.

Congressmen from New York City are up in arms against the possible transfer. Department officials said no final decisions have been reached. Ellis Island has been an immigration station since 1892.

The Immigration Service has been examining the matter because of the view of some officials that the Ellis Island functions could be carried out at Edgewater more conveniently and with less expense.

Fifteen Democratic House members from New York City have written Atty. Gen. Brownell expressing "dismay" at the proposal.

They said there are adequate and "highly desirable" facilities on Ellis Island and "it would cost one million dollars just to build detention quarters in a new building."

Ike OKs Fire Compact

Rail Segregation Ban Is Requested

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today pressed at public hearings its request that the Interstate Commerce Commission rule out all racial segregation in interstate train travel.

The case follows up the Supreme Court's recent outlawing of such segregation in the nation's public school system. It hinges on the contention that the old theory of "equal but separate" accomodations is now legally out of date.

The proceeding against train segregation in general is also a sequel to the 1950 ruling by the high court that racial distinctions among passengers in railroad dining cars had to go.

The court in the dining car case cited a provision of the Interstate Commerce Act that no interstate passenger may be subjected to "any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage whatsoever."

The new NAACP proceeding was brought against a dozen major railroads operating in the South. But association attorney Robert Carter of New York indicated that the current hearings could be brief because, he said, seven of the named railroads have entered into stipulations with him conceding that they segregated passengers in the areas where the local law required such segregation.

Wasn't Even Very "Impatient" With Zwicker, McCarthy Says

Senator Denies Probe Witnesses Abused

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), denying that witnesses before his investigations subcommittee have been mistreated, said today he was not even very "impatient" in questioning Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

McCarthy's questioning of Zwicker, Camp Kilmer, N.J., commander, widened a growing rift between the Wisconsin senator and Pentagon officials and helped touch off the lengthy McCarthy-Army hearings. Secretary of the Army Stevens accused McCarthy of browbeating the general.

McCarthy brought up the incident under questioning before a Senate Rules subcommittee which is studying the need and possibility of writing new rules to govern Senate investigations.

"Some might say I was impatient with him," McCarthy said of Zwicker. "I don't think I was."

But he said he considered Zwicker "the most arrogant, the most insolent witness"—or among the most arrogant and insolent ones—he ever encountered.

McCarthy had sought unsuccessfully to obtain from Zwicker the names of Army officials who had ordered the honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, an Army dentist whose courtmartial McCarthy had demanded on grounds of Communist activities.

Zwicker said he did not know who in the Department of the Army had approved the discharge. Under McCarthy's repeated questioning he said he did not think whoever had approved it should be discharged.

The record of the hearing, publisher later, showed McCarthy then replied:

"Then, general you should be removed from any command. Any man who has been given the honor of being promoted to general and who says, 'I will protect another general who protected Communist,' is not fit to wear that uniform, general."

McCarthy said also his committee is not yet through with the case of Annie Lee Moss who suspended as a Pentagon employe after McCarthy said testimony showed she was a former Communist party member.

She denied the charge and was reinstated after Mrs. Mary Markward, a former undercover informant for the FBI, conceded she could not identify personally the Annie Lee Moss she said was a dues-paying Communist.

Union Racket Probe Aug. 2

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—House investigators of racketeering today announced a public hearing will be held Aug. 2 to air charges against an AFL union operating in metropolitan Washington.

Chairman Bender (R-Ohio) of a Government Operations subcommittee and Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) of the full committee said the probe involves the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America.

Bender issued a statement saying the group has received information "that contracting firms in and outside of Washington who have received government and other contracts here find it almost impossible to operate, due to pressure exerted by union officials, without the payment of bribes."

"Evidence will be presented," Bender added, "showing vicious kickback and extortion demands made by certain union officials on these firms during the past several years."

American Seeking Noah's Ark Finds Ice-Covered Form

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 27 (AP)—An American who set out to climb Mount Ararat in search of the remains of Noah's ark has found "some form covered with ice and snow which could possibly be a ship," the district administrator of the area said today.

The American, John Libby, a native of California, representing the American Outing Club, was accompanied on his climb by Nedim Boysan, district administrator of Dogu Bayazit, which lies at the base of the 16,946-foot mountain—legendary resting place of the biblical ark.

In a cable received here today, Boysan said:

"We encountered not the ruins of Noah's ark but some form covered with ice and snow which could very possibly be a ship. Due to bad weather, we could not go near it or photograph it."

Police authorities at Dogu Baiazit said Libby plans to resume his search if the weather improves.

Dividend Tax Cut Fight Shaping Up

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—House Democrats decided today to make a last-ditch move to knock out of President Eisenhower's tax revision program a section cutting taxes on stock dividends.

They said they would make that motion when the House calls up for action tomorrow a compromise tax overhaul bill cutting various revenues an estimated 1 1-3 billion dollars this year.

Some Democrats conceded they didn't expect their move to succeed, but other Democratic and Republican leaders said the vote could be close.

The dividend section is the most hotly disputed provision in the bill, which runs almost 1,000 pages and rewrites almost every tax law on the books. It makes no rate changes but provides scores of new or bigger deductions for individuals and business firms.

Senate Group Prods France To Ratify EDC

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved today a resolution urging President Eisenhower to "take such steps as he deemed appropriate" to restore sovereignty to Western Germany if "future developments make this desirable."

It amounts to a new move to persuade France to ratify the proposed European Defense Community under which Germany would contribute troops to a united European defense army. In connection with the EDC plan Germany would regain her sovereignty.

Dien Bien Phu Wasn't Useless, Nurse Declares

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Was Dien Bien Phu a useless battle?

That question was put today to Genevieve de Galard-Terraube, the French Air Force nurse who, as the lone woman in the beleagued garrison, saw the proud tricolor hauled down in defeat.

Here at the invitation of President Eisenhower and Congress, this 29-year-old girl sat on a terrace at the French Embassy and pondered for a few seconds her answer to a reporter at a news conference.

She is not the gay Parisienne although she jokes lightly. She is the daughter of a viscount and her Gascon family from feudal days has been associated with important events in French history.

"No," she said slowly in halting English, "I don't think it was useless. That is a question that is hard for me to answer. I don't know military strategy. I understand we were defending the road to Hanoi and Luang Prabang."

She glanced around the ring of reporters. She was in a white nurse's uniform. On her left breast was the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor. She had left off her blue beret and this showed her dark hair lightly curled. Her nose is slightly freckled and she uses but little makeup.

"Dien Bien Phu proved to the world that as a nation we French have a soul, that we can struggle to the end for honor and sacrifice for liberty," she said.

Honduras Dynamite Theft Blamed On Reds

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, July 27 (AP)—Police said today they believed the hi-jacking of a load of dynamite from a U.S. construction company Sunday was part of a plot by Communist sympathizers to sabotage U.S. arms shipments to Honduras.

Honduras has been receiving U.S. arms under a recently signed defense agreement.

A group of men Sunday held up Charles Register, an American citizen, and stole a large quantity of dynamite from a road depot of the Jones Construction Co., a U. S. company which has been paving a highway from Tegucigalpa to the coast.

The famous painter Titian gave his name to a color of hair.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 27 (AP) — The Serbian Orthodox Church leader in Montenegro went on trial today on charges of anti-state activities. Religious sources said one allegation accused him of celebrating President Eisenhower's election.

The arrest of the leader, Metropolitan Arsenije Bradvarevic, was disclosed by Orthodox church sources in Belgrade last Saturday. He was taken into custody July 6 in the Montenegran city of Cetinje, where the trial is being held. Start of the trial was reported by telephone from Cetinje by the clerk of the district court. He declined to furnish any details.

Mechanic Plans 9,000-Mile Nonstop Trip In Gadget Car

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 27 (AP)—An automobile whose many gadgets include equipment for changing tires without stopping left today for Anchorage, Alaska, and a 9,000-mile nonstop run from there to Mexico City.

Elias (Louie) Mattar, 43, mechanic whose 1947 car has such items as a television, dashboard bar, fender shower and folding back-seat toilet service including hot water and electric razor, said he expected to reach Anchorage about Aug. 5 or 6.

He will start the non-stop run Aug. 10, he said, and expects to reach Mexico City, Aug. 18.

The car will be refueled on the run and the tires changed by means of special hydraulic jacks on wheels and an emergency catwalk for the manual work.

Few Germans Ever Heard Of Dr. Otto John Until Disappearance Behind Iron Curtain

BONN, Germany, July 27 (AP)—Friends of the missing Dr. Otto John describe him as a highly intelligent and charming individual inclined to periods of deep depression.

John's enemies report he drank heavily, cared little for women, but spent money freely and lived beyond his income.

A blond, 44-year-old six-footer, John startled the free world by disappearing behind the Iron Curtain in East Berlin last Tuesday with a thousand secrets of the West's undercover fight against Communism.

Germans, like people in many other nations, are now asking:

"What sort of man was Dr. John? Did he really desert to the Communists? And if so, why?"

As director of the Federal office for the Protection of the Constitution, John was one of the most powerful men in West Germany. He directed all federal counter-espionage activity. Yet few Germans ever heard of him until his disappearance.

One man who has worked with John for years said:

"I'm convinced that the Communists bribed him to desert. He's bribe."

A second man who also has worked with John for years said:

"Say what you will, I find it impossible to believe that he has gone over to the Communists. He hated oppression and dictatorship."

Between these opposing estimates, other facts emerge through the veil of mystery which John draped over his official and private lives.

The son of a petty German official, John was born in Wiesbaden. He studied law and in 1937 joined the German Lufthansa—the nation's huge airline—as a legal expert. His title "doctor" comes from his law degree.

He had a passion for anonymity. His private address and telephone number were known to only a few colleagues and intimate friends. Occasionally the jaw-breaking German name of his office—the Bundesvergassungsschutzamt — crept into conversation or the press but seldom did one hear or read of Dr. Otto John.

Persons who knew him well say John changed sides readily. He worked successively for the Nazis, the anti-Nazi resistance movement, the British, the West Germans.

There are some who claim to remember John as an official of Hitler's Gestapo. A former Gestapo official said John's job was to pay off Gestapo informers. None of the official biographies of John, however, lists any connection with the Gestapo.

John actively collaborated with the anti-Nazi resistance movement in a group headed by Adm. Wilhelm Canaris, chief of Germany's wartime intelligence service. At one time the Canaris group selected John to try to contact Gen. Eisenhower's staff to negotiate an armistice.

When the July 20, 1944, bomb plot against Hitler failed, John fled from Berlin to Madrid by plane. After the Nazis asked for his extradition, John moved on to Lisbon. There he was arrested by Portuguese police. British intelligence won his release and put him on a plane for Tangier, the international zone of Morocco. The plane hit bad weather and the pilot, over John's protests, returned to Lisbon.

The British stepped in again and held John in protective custody until a British plane arrived. He was flown to London. There he cooperated with British wartime propagandists, broadcasting over the British Broadcasting Corp. ..

He returned to West Germany in 1949 and in 1950 he was named director of the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution—the West German FBI. Unlike the FBI, however, the organization has no powers of arrest.

German officials say the British, more than any one else, were instrumental in putting John into this position.

He was given this post only after 12 other men had been considered and rejected by the Allied occupation powers.

In the office, John directed an army of agents and informers in both West Germany and Communist-controlled East Germany. Some West Germans, knowing of his work, muttered "new Gestapo" and refused to talk on political matters in public places or on the telephone. Others, such as Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder, Johns superior, called the office "absolutely necessary" to combat subversive elements.

Co-Op Buys Capital Dairy For $3,850,000

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The Maryland and Virginia Milk producers Assn., a 1,900-member cooperative, announced yesterday purchase of the Embassy Dairy, largest independently owned dairy in the Washington area.

William B. Hooper, assistant manager of the association, who will be managing director of Embassy, said the sale was a $3,850,000 cash transaction.

He said the principal reason for the purchase was to provide an additional outlet for members of the association. Embassy has been purchasing milk from non-members.

There will be no price or other changes in Embassy service, Hooper said.

Nazi Raid Duly Recorded Event

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP) — The April 1944 attack by the Germans on Slapton, England, when 700 American soldiers were killed in a surprise raid, now turns out to be a duly recorded event.

Residents of the village of Slapton listened with amazement Saturday when Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander of Allied Forces in Europe, said in a speech that a German submarine broke through channel defenses and sank three large training ships.

Some versions of the story as cabled said this incident had never been mentioned before. It was news to the Slapton residents, who had been moved out in 1944 so Americans could rehearse secretly for the invasion of Europe.

The full story of the incident is set forth for all to read in the Army's official history of the European theater of operations in a volume published in 1951.

Actually, the attack was made by nine German torpedo boats—not one submarine—and two landing ships were sunk and another damaged. The troops were members of the 7th Army Corps.

The official reports of the Navy at war, published in 1946, also listed two landing ships sunk at the same location, off the coast of Devon, on June 28, 1944.

Paris Designers Bring Back Real Hats For Milady

PARIS, July 27 (AP) — Milliners raised the curtain today on showings of fall and winter fashions and revealed that honest-to-goodness hats are back.

In the showy glitter of the salons of Maxim's restaurant, France' 12 leading hatmakers appeared to have reverted to the 18th Century for inspiration.

Gone are the bits of fluff, the flowers wired to thin strips of velvet. What were shown today were fully developed pieces of headgear, hair-covering cloches, berets, bonnets, calot and toques.

Each designer showed nine hats—three each for morning, afternoon and evening.

Abouy led off, tipping the trend with his first group of tight-fitting velours and felts, set well back on the head and cut with flattering widow's peaks. The China reds and Ming blues were clear, flattering and youthful colors. Red and blue, in fact, dominated all the collections in varying hues and names.

Claude St. Cyr names his colors after painters, his "Braque blue" being one of the most wearable in the whole show.

Orcel, dean of the Parisian modistes, used red felt in a bewitching Dutch cap fitted snugly over the ears and artfully draped in back.

Even the most frou - frou of evening hats stick to the close-fitting shapes. Caroline Reboux presented a wonderful eye-catcher of a green calot trimmed in rose, with a billowy feather cascading down to the neck.

All 108 hats displayed made one thing a certainty: Milady is going to get wearable fashions for her head, the kind that deserve the term "hat" and won't blow off.

Savage River Dam Used To Supplement Potomac

Water is being released from the huge Savage River Dam to supplement the flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River.

This is the second time this year that it has been necessary to keep the flow of the river at a minimum of 60,000,000 gallons a day.

Julian G. Patrick, supervising engineer for the Savage River Dam, said this releasing of water at this time of the summer is normal.

Until two weeks ago, water was running over the spillway from the full reservoir.

After a few days at the first of last week, the supplemental flow from the dam was halted when the North Branch rose following last Tuesday's rain.

Over the weekend, it became necessary again to supply the Potomac River, Patrick reported. This morning, for instance, through the U. S. Geological Survey's telemark system, Patrick was informed that the flow past Kitzmiller was at the rate of 30,000,000 gallons a day. This means that today there will be an additional 30,000,000 gallons released to keep the flow at 60,000,000 gallons as it passes Luke.

The dam proved its worth last summer and fall when it was capable of supplying the Potomac River during the long period of below-normal rainfall.

Budget Meetings Delayed Pending Expressway Action

The Mayor and Council will not start meetings to set up the budget for the 1954-55 fiscal year pending settlement of the crosstown expressway issue.

In the event the city council votes either to adopt or reject the State Roads Commission's plan for a Cumberland through route, it will make some effect on the city's financial arrangement.

The State Roads Commission has given the city until August 9 to make a decision on its $10,000,000 plan.

If accepted, an average of $70,000 in Cumberland's share of the state gasoline tax will be allocated to the through-route. This will have some effect on the Street Department's funds. Other factors have to be considered, also.

At any rate the deadline for completion of the new budget is August 25. The budget meetings will be held by the council between August 9 and the deadline date.

There is talk in City Hall that the crosstown expressway issue will be brought to a vote by the Mayor and Council at Monday's meeting.

However, Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday indicated that the voting would probably take place on August 9 so that the most time possible could be given to the subject.

There has been little indication as to how the council has lined up at this time on the through-route plan.

Former Resident New Schick Head

A former Cumberlander, Joseph B. Elliott, has joined Schick, Inc., Stamford, Conn., manufacturer of electric shavers, as president, according to an announcement by Kenneth G. Gifford, who relinquishes that office but continues as chairman of the board.

TAKE a look, if you please, at the car and the styling that are changing historic sales standings.

Take a look at the beauty and the buy called Buick—the car that is forging ahead to new sales heights in the 1954 market.

Take a look at the new best seller that has moved into the "Big Three" of the nation's top sales leaders—into that very exclusive circle that for two decades has held only the so-called "low-price three."

For today, as national sales figures for the first five months reveal, Buick is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three." And each new month firms Buick's new position.

It takes solid worth to bring this about—a lot more automobile per dollar in Buick than in other cars.

But it also takes the glamorous new tomorrow styling that is Buick today. It takes the highest V8 horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. It takes the room and comfort and ride and handling that are Buick's proud tradition.

And it takes a range of cars to satisfy a wide range of people—with prices that most people can well afford. So you find the low-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER—the four big reasons for Buick's tremendous sales success.

Come in for a demonstration and you'll see what we mean.

With the years-away styling of this glamor car, you'll be way ahead at resale time. And right now you're money ahead with the big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you. Drop in this week.

Demo Convention Slated To Reconvene Next Week

Mahoney Asks Court To Review Contested Talbot Ballots

BALTIMORE, July 27 (AP) — Michael J. Birmingham, chairman of the Democratic state convention, said today it will reconvene "by the middle of next week, at the latest" to nominate a candidate for governor.

Birmingham said the 152 delegates will be notified of the exact date before this week ends.

The convention recessed yesterday without nominating H. C. Byrd, who won the primary election in the official canvass, with 80 unit votes over George P. Mahoney's 72.

Byrd did not want to be nominated, he said, pending the outcome of court contests Mahoney has set up in his attempt to win the nomination.

Today, Mahoney asked the court in Easton to review 245 contested ballots in the recount in Talbot County. The petition was similar to one filed yesterday in Queen Anne's County requesting the same action on a larger number of votes.

Judge William R. Horney scheduled a hearing on both issues for 10 a.m. tomorrow at Centreville, Queen Annes County.

After the recount last week, Byrd led by a mere 22 votes in Queen Annes County and 57 in Talbot. He would need both counties to upset Byrd. Talbot County is worth four unit votes and Queen Annes three.

Lawyers representing Byrd's interests in both counties will be present at the hearing tomorrow.

Mahoney lost a battle before the Maryland Court of Appeals in Annapolis yesterday when it refused him permission to look at the records of voting in Baltimore City's 4th District and in Calvert County.

Down to his last court fights now, Mahoney is asking that 245 ballots be junked in Talbot County, 41 of them for him and 204 for Byrd. In Queen Annes, he wants 549 Byrd ballots and 128 Mahoney thrown out.

Mahoney claims those votes were "improperly, unlawfully, capriciously and arbitrarily" tallied in the recounts.

The new show of patience by the Byrd camp was viewed as an effort to tone down the bitterness which has existed between the two men in the rough and tumble election battle.

Byrd supporters openly reasoned that their leader's refusal to take the nomination by steamroller tactics might win a lot of Mahoney supporters.

Returns Pay Check

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 27 (AP)—Albert M. Morgan, Monongalia County prosecuting attorney, refused to accept three months pay today because he has been campaigning for the Republican nomination to Congress from the 2nd District.

The son of former Gov. Ephraim Morgan, young Morgan told members of the County Court he was turning the check back to the county because he had not been available to the people.

"I believe government officials should earn their money," he added. "As much as I need it—and I've had to borrow money to take my candidacy to the people—I refuse my check because, during the past three months when circumstances warranted, I have been away from the office approximately the number of work days in a month."

Trio Faces Jury Action After Raid On Whisky Still

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., July 27 (AP) — Three persons seized by agents in a raid on a big Southern Maryland whisky still last night were ordered held in bonds of $1,000 each today for federal grand jury action on moonshining charges.

Appearing before U. S. Commissioner Samuel Meloy on the charges were James Garner, 41, and Lorenzo James Mosby, 39, both of Lexington Park, and James P. Smith, 43, of California. All are Negroes.

They were jailed here in default of bond.

State and federal agents said they nabbed them brewing up a batch of moonshine in a 100-gallon still near California, about eight miles east of Leonardtown in St. Mary's County. A fourth man escaped as the agents came crashing through the brush of the wooded area.

It was the fourth strike of the weekend by agents of Maryland's Alcoholic Tax Enforcement Unit working in cooperation with federal revenuers. They rounded up a total of six persons on charges of violating whisky laws.

Casualties to the raiders included one agent put out of action temporarily by hornet or wild bee stings. State Agent Bernard Kalnoske of the Annapolis office was stung so severely as he approached the whisky still that he had to be removed to St. Mary's Hospital in Leonardtown for treatment.

Kalnoske was back on the job today but his face and hands were still swollen from the stings.

The whisky-making plant was described by head State Agent Robert N. Lucke in Annapolis as having a 100-gallon steam plant with a fermenting capacity of one thousand gallons. Agents confiscated some 650 gallons of rye mash with the still. Lucke said the plant was capable of producing 100 gallons of whisky every three or four days.

Federal Agent Raymond Acker led the raid, assisted by two other federal agents and four state agents.

Frederick County Leaders Oppose Closing Of Hospital

BALTIMORE, July 27 (AP) — A delegation of Frederick County officials and citizens pleaded with the State today for withdrawal of its order to close Frederick Emergency Hospital next fall.

Headed by U. Grant Hooper, chairman of the Frederick County commissioners, the group pledged to work for correction of physical deficiencies and personnel shortages which had prompted the closing order.

Dr. Robert H. Riley, chairman of the State Board of Health, and Herbert E. Fritz, chief of the State Health Department's division of hospital services, promised to bring the plea before the full board shortly, perhaps within two weeks.

They suggested after the informal meeting that the delegation's position be outlined in the form of a letter addressed to the board.

This would speed up action on their proposal, Riley and Fritz said.

The Board of Health ordered the hospital closed by Nov. 30 after a check of its physical plant and reports of three deaths there earlier this year.

The reports indicated improved facilities and additions to the staff might prevent similar occurrences.

Hooper assured the State health officials the county was willing to spend about $12,000 needed to bring the hospital facilities up to State requirements.

He also said "an honest effort" would be made to maintain adequate, trained personnel. Improvements along these lines already have been made, he said.

"If you'll go along with us," said Hooper, "we'll be very happy and you'll be making a lot of people in Frederick County very happy.

"I'm very sorry for the incidents that have happened out there."

The county operates the hospital opposite Camp Detrick in the northwest part of Frederick. It is used mostly for welfare patients who are chronically ill. Some financial aid is provided by the State and it is the cutting off of this which will close the institution in November.

Hooper and other members of the Frederick group told the health officials closing of the hospital would work a hardship on many Frederick countians unable to pay for medical care at Frederick Memorial Hospital, the only other one in the community.

New Jet Transport Exceeds 550 MPH

SEATTLE, July 27 (AP)—America's first jet transport-tanker has exceeded speeds of 550 miles per hour and has flown higher than 42,000 feet in early test flights, the Boeing airplane company announced today.

The big, four-jet plane, the 707, will be called the Jet Stratoliner when used as a commercial transport plane and is designed to carry from 80 to 130 passengers at speeds exceeding 550 miles per hour, four-fifths the speed of sound.

As a military plane, capable of aerial refueling of the Air Force's fastest jet bombers en route to targets, it will be named the Strato tanker.

McCarthy Says Reds Quit Defense Plants

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today the number of Communists in defense plants known to his Senate Investigations subcommittee "has dwindled very, very greatly" since he first announced the total as 133.

In one plant, he said, four out of five persons with backgrounds of Communist activity have left the payroll.

Savage River Dam Used To Supplement Potomac

Water is being released from the huge Savage River Dam to supplement the flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River.

This is the second time this year that it has been necessary to keep the flow of the river at a minimum of 60,000,000 gallons a day.

Julian G. Patrick, supervising engineer for the Savage River Dam, said this releasing of water at this time of the summer is normal.

Until two weeks ago, water was running over the spillway from the full reservoir.

After a few days at the first of last week, the supplemental flow from the dam was halted when the North Branch rose following last Tuesday's rain.

Over the weekend, it became necessary again to supply the Potomac River, Patrick reported. This morning, for instance, through the U. S. Geological Survey's telemark system, Patrick was informed that the flow past Kitzmiller was at the rate of 30,000,000 gallons a day. This means that today there will be an additional 30,000,000 gallons released to keep the flow at 60,000,000 gallons as it passes Luke.

The dam proved its worth last summer and fall when it was capable of supplying the Potomac River during the long period of below-normal rainfall.

Budget Meetings Delayed Pending Expressway Action

The Mayor and Council will not start meetings to set up the budget for the 1954-55 fiscal year pending settlement of the crosstown expressway issue.

In the event the city council votes either to adopt or reject the State Roads Commission's plan for a Cumberland through route, it will make some effect on the city's financial arrangement.

The State Roads Commission has given the city until August 9 to make a decision on its $10,000,000 plan.

If accepted, an average of $70,000 in Cumberland's share of the state gasoline tax will be allocated to the through-route. This will have some effect on the Street Department's funds. Other factors have to be considered, also.

At any rate the deadline for completion of the new budget is August 25. The budget meetings will be held by the council between August 9 and the deadline date.

There is talk in City Hall that the crosstown expressway issue will be brought to a vote by the Mayor and Council at Monday's meeting.

However, Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday indicated that the voting would probably take place on August 9 so that the most time possible could be given to the subject.

There has been little indication as to how the council has lined up at this time on the through-route plan.

Former Resident New Schick Head

A former Cumberlander, Joseph B. Elliott, has joined Schick, Inc., Stamford, Conn., manufacturer of electric shavers, as president, according to an announcement by Kenneth G. Gifford, who relinquishes that office but continues as chairman of the board.

Mr. Elliott resided in Cumberland during the late 1920's and early 1930's when he was associated with his brother, James Elliott, now president of the Alexander Smith Carpet Company, in the operation of the Coca-Cola plant. His wife is the former Mary Dickey, daughter of Mrs. Annie R. Dickey, 119 North Allegany Street.

Mr. Elliott has resigned as executive vice president, consumer products, of the Radio Corporation of America. He had been with RCA since 1935 except for 1944-45, when he was vice president in charge of sales and advertising for Schick, of which he has been a director four years.

This is the first festival the association has had in four years and large crowds are expected, according to Hilary H. Green, president.

Green said the group hopes to raise enough money to put a blacktopped basketball court on the playground.

Attractions will be games, pony rides, baked goods and refreshments.

Those in charge of stands are Green, James McGann, John Cook Jr., J. L. Baker, Thomas Kegg, Robert Herboldsheimer, Mrs. Kathryn Green and Leo E. P. Law.

Working on the refreshments committee are Mrs. Robert Pence, Mrs. Joseph A. Mackert, Mrs. Jack Runion, Mrs. June Goodman and Miss Mary Thompson.

The bake sale will be conducted by Mrs. Florence Yankelevitz, Mrs. Charles C. Wiant and Mrs. Lucile Roeder.

It's the Hit that's writing New History

TAKE a look, if you please, at the car and the styling that are changing historic sales standings.

Take a look at the beauty and the buy called Buick—the car that is forging ahead to new sales heights in the 1954 market.

Take a look at the new best seller that has moved into the "Big Three" of the nation's top sales leaders—into that very exclusive circle that for two decades has held only the so-called "low-price three."

For today, as national sales figures for the first five months reveal, Buick is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three." And each new month firms Buick's new position.

It takes solid worth to bring this about—a lot more automobile per dollar in Buick than in other cars.

But it also takes the glamorous new tomorrow styling that is Buick today. It takes the highest V8 horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. It takes the room and comfort and ride and handling that are Buick's proud tradition.

And it takes a range of cars to satisfy a wide range of people—with prices that most people can well afford. So you find the low-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER—the four big reasons for Buick's tremendous sales success.

Come in for a demonstration and you'll see what we mean.

With the years-away styling of this glamor car, you'll be way ahead at resale time. And right now you're money ahead with the big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you. Drop in this week.

Bloodmobile Unit Due Here Aug. 3

The Red Cross bloodmobile unit will visit Cumberland and Lonaconing for one-day visits August 2 and 3, Mrs. Charles F. Helmrich, recruiting chairman of the Allegany County Chapter's blood donation program, said yesterday.

The unit from Johnstown's blood center will be in Lonaconing at the Veterans of Foreign Wars post August 2, she stated. It will make its usual one-day visit to Cumberland on August 3 at the Eagles home on North Mechanic Street.

Last month Cumberland residents met the 150 quart minimum needed each visit by donating 155½ quarts of whole blood during the units' visit here July 6.

Mrs. Helmrich added, however, that failure for some of the county's outlying districts to meet their quotas for the month had depleted the supply and Arthur Koster, administrator for the Johnstown blood center, has made an urgent appeal for donations this month.

Legion, B&O Arrange Special Trains To Annual Conclave

Allegany and Garrett county veterans and other residents will be given an opportunity to see the American Legion National Convention Parade in Washington on August 31.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, cooperating with American Legion posts in this area, has arranged low-cost excursion trains to and from Washington on that date.

The train will leave Oakland at 5:47 a. m. (EST), arriving in Washington at 10:10 a. m. (EST). The Oakland train will leave Washington at 9:30 p. m. (EST) and arrive at Oakland at 1:48 a. m. (EST).

The Cumberland special will leave the Queen City at 4:08 a. m. (EST) and arrive in Washington at 7:15 a. m. (EST). Returning, the Cumberland special will leave Washington at 9 p. m., arriving here at 12:18 a. m. (EST).

Special round-trip fares from Oakland and Cumberland have been arranged. Children from 5 to 12 may travel on half-fare rates.

In order for the committee to complete necessary arrangements with the railroad it is necessary that reservations be made and tickets purchased not later than August 15.

Edward P. Kahl of Oakland has charge of tickets there, and Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland postmaster, has charge here.

Conlon said yesterday a lunch and refreshment car will be on each train, but the travelers may take lunches if they wish. He predicted that over 300 residents from this area will take advantage of the opportunity.

Railway Income Shows Increase

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad showed a net income of $1,700,717 for the month of June this year. This was an increase of $23,395 over the net income of May of 1954 but was $1,318,129 less than June of last year.

The June income for 1954 also was the highest net for any month of the current year, the company announced. Total railway operating revenues for this June were $32,736,891, while operating expenses amounted to $26,463,342.

Net income of the B&O for the first six months of this year was $7,246,803, a decrease of $6,403,194 from the net income of the first half period of 1953. However, this income was earned in the face of a drop in operating revenues for the six-month period of $42,390,420 in 1954 from 1953.

Operating revenues for 1954 totaled $188,239,269 compared to $230,619,689 last year. Expenses in 1954 over the same period amounted to $153,452,904, a drop of $27,801,925 from 1953's $181,254,829 expenses.

Goss also was charged with assault upon Mrs. Ellen M. Crawford, Williams Road, in an altercation Saturday. He was arrested by Trooper J. F. Browning of the Maryland State Police.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason suspended sentence and paroled Goss for two years on the condition he be of good behavior and stay away from the Williams Road property where the disturbance took place.

Inmate Skips Out Before Habeas Corpus Hearing

An inmate of Spring Grove State Hospital, scheduled to receive a jury trial in Circuit Court here yesterday in an attempt to gain his freedom, did so early Monday when he escaped from the institution.

Associate Judge George Henderson, a jury, attorneys on both sides and court attaches were ready at 9:15 a. m. when the case was set to open.

But William Brewer of Baltimore took leave of the hospital at Catonsville around 5 a. m. Monday when he was able to gain admittance to the institution's kitchen by a ruse.

As explained in court yesterday, Brewer was kept in the security section of the institution but sometime Sunday he obtained access to a doctor's pad which was used in writing out orders. Brewer allegedly forged an order calling for his transfer to the kitchen of the hospital and signed it with the initials of the doctor.

An attendant took him to the kitchen after being shown the transfer order. After his escape from the hospital was discovered a search was begun. Brewer left a note in the kitchen stating that: "I'm sorry to leave, but I can't prepare my case here."

Brewer has been an inmate at the hospital since 1947 and had a hearing here during the October terms of court last year. Simon F. Reilly, local attorney, represented Brewer at that time and was on hand again today in court—but his client failed to appear.

Bloodmobile Unit Due Here Aug. 3

The Red Cross bloodmobile unit will visit Cumberland and Lonaconing for one-day visits August 2 and 3, Mrs. Charles F. Helmrich, recruiting chairman of the Allegany County Chapter's blood donation program, said yesterday.

The unit from Johnstown's blood center will be in Lonaconing at the Veterans of Foreign Wars post August 2, she stated. It will make its usual one-day visit to Cumberland on August 3 at the Eagles home on North Mechanic Street.

Last month Cumberland residents met the 150 quart minimum needed each visit by donating 155½ quarts of whole blood during the units' visit here July 6.

Mrs. Helmrich added, however, that failure for some of the county's outlying districts to meet their quotas for the month had depleted the supply and Arthur Koster, administrator for the Johnstown blood center, has made an urgent appeal for donations this month.

Legion, B&O Arrange Special Trains To Annual Conclave

Allegany and Garrett county veterans and other residents will be given an opportunity to see the American Legion National Convention Parade in Washington on August 31.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, cooperating with American Legion posts in this area, has arranged low-cost excursion trains to and from Washington on that date.

The train will leave Oakland at 5:47 a. m. (EST), arriving in Washington at 10:10 a. m. (EST). The Oakland train will leave Washington at 9:30 p. m. (EST) and arrive at Oakland at 1:48 a. m. (EST).

The Cumberland special will leave the Queen City at 4:08 a. m. (EST) and arrive in Washington at 7:15 a. m. (EST). Returning, the Cumberland special will leave Washington at 9 p. m., arriving here at 12:18 a. m. (EST).

Special round-trip fares from Oakland and Cumberland have been arranged. Children from 5 to 12 may travel on half-fare rates.

In order for the committee to complete necessary arrangements with the railroad it is necessary that reservations be made and tickets purchased not later than August 15.

Edward P. Kahl of Oakland has charge of tickets there, and Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland postmaster, has charge here.

Conlon said yesterday a lunch and refreshment car will be on each train, but the travelers may take lunches if they wish. He predicted that over 300 residents from this area will take advantage of the opportunity.

Railway Income Shows Increase

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad showed a net income of $1,700,717 for the month of June this year. This was an increase of $23,395 over the net income of May of 1954 but was $1,318,129 less than June of last year.

The June income for 1954 also was the highest net for any month of the current year, the company announced. Total railway operating revenues for this June were $32,736,891, while operating expenses amounted to $26,463,342.

Net income of the B&O for the first six months of this year was $7,246,803, a decrease of $6,403,194 from the net income of the first half period of 1953. However, this income was earned in the face of a drop in operating revenues for the six-month period of $42,390,420 in 1954 from 1953.

Operating revenues for 1954 totaled $188,239,269 compared to $230,619,689 last year. Expenses in 1954 over the same period amounted to $153,452,904, a drop of $27,801,925 from 1953's $181,254,829 expenses.

Magistrate Suspends Assault Sentence

James Goss, about 30, of 12 West Second Street was found guilty of drunk and disorderly conduct and was given a suspended six-months sentence in the Maryland House of Correction Monday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Goss also was charged with assault upon Mrs. Ellen M. Crawford, Williams Road, in an altercation Saturday. He was arrested by Trooper J. F. Browning of the Maryland State Police.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason suspended sentence and paroled Goss for two years on the condition he be of good behavior and stay away from the Williams Road property where the disturbance took place.

Chancellor Adenauer's Remarkable Restraint

Some men, if they were in the position now occupied by Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the West German Republic, would be using the present moment as an opportunity to win some political gains at French expense. The principle is simple: When your opponent is in trouble, press him hard. And there is no doubt that the French are in trouble in Southeast Asia and not in a good position to stand firm on European questions if Dr. Adenauer pushed them now.

But the sagacious old man who has piloted West Germany to a political stability that is as remarkable as its economic resurgence is not doing any pushing. On the contrary, he said at Berlin the other day that he is ready to negotiate with France any revisions in the European Defense Community treaty that would not require ratification by the German parliament. Furthermore, he is prepared to make "a generous interpretation of the agreed treaty to satisfy any additional justified French desires."

This is more than fair. EDC was first put forward by the French, and the representatives of France signed it just as did the representatives of the other five nations that were involved. Four of the six have now ratified the treaty. It is a little late in the day for France to come up with a demand that the whole business must be renegotiated. But Chancellor Adenauer's position is that he is prepared to find a way to meet French wishes without doing it all over again.

It is significant that this is the attitude he takes toward French fears that under the treaty Germany might gain dominance on the continent. They want even more safeguards than they have been given already—and those given included strong assurances from Britain and the United States to keep forces in Europe as long as necessary. Dr. Adenauer is prepared to give these additional assurances.

These Days

Without Religion, No Resistance

Asia is the homeland of the religions of the human race. While Catholicism ultimately developed in the European lands of the Roman Empire and most Protestant groups grew in the Germanic countries, Switzerland and England, Christianity is an Oriental religion out of Palestine and Syria. Although all human beings, even the most primitive, develop some form of religious experience, the great universal churches which have crossed national borders and have affected millions of people are the specific contributions of Asia to civilization.

Religion has, in every Asiatic country, determined the social characteristics of the people. In China, historically four religions have been important: Taoism, Confucianism, Buddhism and Islam. Taoism and Buddhism have become largely ritualistic in China, with emphasis on supernatural intervention in private lives. Confucianism is a pragmatic, atheistic, materialistic philosophy which has taken on the characteristics of a church and which has, in Western eyes, at least, the formalities of ancestor worship. Islam in China is extensive, reaching from Turkestan to Shantung.

Hinduism, as a religion, is pantheistic, gloriously exultant in its literature but degeneratively ritualistic and superstitious in its non-philosophic expressions among the masses. Its literature is beautiful almost beyond anything that appears in other religious conceptions. Indian Buddhism has taken on several manifestations, some often producing degenerate sex aspects. It would be impossible to catalogue all the varieties of religious expression in India and the adjoining countries, and it is probably unimportant to do so here. What is significant is the enormous role played by great religions in these countries and how they have degenerated from the noblest spiritual movements among the people to ritualistic superstition.

Islam is the religion of Pakistan and Karachi is one of the most important Islamic cultural centers in all the world. Islam reaches into many parts of India. Pakistan is a bulwark against communism as, thus far, are all Islamic countries. Whereas Nehru, in the current climate of India, finds public opinion antagonistic to stern resistance against Russia, Pakistan is in alliance with the United States and is firmly set against Marxism.

Christianity came to China early in the Nestorian manifestation, probably in the 7th Century. The Nestorians were absorbed in the native population and disappeared, leaving only an historic record. The Dominicans came in the 14th Century and the Jesuits in the 15th Century. Among the greatest of the Jesuit missionaries was Matteo Ricci (1552-1610) who exercised a tremendous influence in the imperial court. At one period, the Chinese emperor, K'ang Hsi (1655-1723) was ready to adopt Christianity as the court religion and to convert the country, but the Jesuits and Dominicans got snarled in a quarrel over the name of God, whether it was to be translated as Shang Ti or Tien Chu and when the Pope intervened to instruct the Chinese emperor as to the correct use of Chinese, the emperor ordered Christian missionaries out of China (in 1706) with a few exceptions.

Christianity also moved in from the South, influencing India as well as China through the missionary efforts of Francis Xavier whose memory is still green. Also British and American Protestants appeared in the early 19th Century in South China as missionaries, expanding their influence throughout the country. So potent were the small number of Christians that until the Communists took over, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in China was almost entirely manned by graduates of Christian colleges. Under British rule, both Protestant and Catholic missionaries made considerable progress in India. Goa, a Portuguese colony in India, developed into an important Catholic center. In both countries, American Catholic and Protestant missionaries had grown increasingly numerous and influential until World War II. However, wherever the Chinese Communists take over, Christians are expelled and in some instances martyred.

It is historically interesting to note that only Christianity and Islam possess the inner strength and courage in these countries to generate opposition to Marxism. It is in the nature of the current world struggle that a Confucian will find little, from a philosophic standpoint, that is offensive in Marxism, nor will a Hindu. On the other hand, a Christian or a Moslem, in whatever country, obviously cannot accept a philosophic system which rejects the concept of a mystical God who created the Earth and all that is upon it, including man.

What Do I Do When He Gets Hungry Again?

Backstage Factors Led To Senate's Filibuster Over Atomic Power Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The inside story of the greatest filibuster in modern Senate history can now be told. Whatever you may say about filibusters, this one also concerned one of the most important bills in modern times.

It established machinery governing the atomic power that will run the nation's factories and electric-light plants in the next 75 years.

In the past, the great water-power sites of the United States have been developed in part by private utilities, in part by the government. But the basic battle in the Atomic Energy Bill was the giving of all atomic power to private industry. The government would have no look-in at all. At one point Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, the Republican in charge of the bill for the Eisenhower forces, even introduced an amendment banning the government from spending any funds whatsoever for developing commercial power.

Chief backer and pusher of the atomic power bill was Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and partner of the Wall Street banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Co. This is one of the big investment bankers which have been financing the private power companies anxious to get a grip on atomic power.

Another Wall Street investment firm, Lehman Brothers, has hired Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; while a third big Wall Street firm, Lazard Freres, has hired David Lilienthal, another former AEC chairman. Both men have kept carefully aloof from the legislative battle, however.

These were the backstage factors which caused a group of senators to meet in the District of Columbia Senate Committee Room about 10 days ago to pledge a battle to the bitter end against the atomic bill. At that meeting, Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama, one of the senior Southern Democrats, was appointed captain of the group, with Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Clinton Anderson of New Mexico the lieutenants in charge of amendments.

It was agreed that there would be a carefully arranged schedule of speakers with each man taking his turn.

"I'm prepared to speak six hours a day," declared able Senator Gore of Tennessee enthusiastically. "With this plan we can carry on from now until Christmas."

Little did the group realize that the man who spoke, despite his ability, would be the first to crumble when the fighting got tough.

For three days the filibuster operated with clocklike precision. Every speaker was in his place at the right time, carried on for the allotted length of time. It looked as if they could operate indefinitely.

But last Friday night, as Knowland of California fought in vain to stop the filibuster, three things happened. One was petty and personal, only important in a body where alleged statesmen can put personal prestige ahead of issues that affect the nation.

It began with a statement by Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama that the Republican leadership might better consult those who were doing the real fighting against the atom giveaway rather than consult the alleged Democratic leadership.

What Sparkman indirectly referred to was the fact that Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, was not leading this fight, but was sitting on the sideline. And Sparkman suggested the Republicans would be better off conferring wtih the leaders of the filibuster rather than the man who was not leading.

This got under Johnson's skin. He came over to Sparkman's desk on the Senate floor and waved his arms. Sparkman pounded his desk in Lyndon's face. Sparkman, the man who made the remark, was vice presidential candidate in 1952. He has plenty of prestige. But Johnson, the man who heard it, aspires to be vice presidential candidate — or better — in 1956.

So, later that night, "Lyin' down Lyndon," as he is sometimes called, was heard telling Gore of Tennessee: "We're going to find out who is going to stand up and vote for my leadership rather than that of Wayne Morse."

Simultaneously, more personal peeve had been injected into the battle. Knowing Lyndon Johnson's vanity, Knowland kept needling the Democrats that Morse, the Oregon independent, was the real leader of the Democrats.

This was discussed at a secret meeting of the atom bill's opponents in Lister Hill's office late Friday at which Gore of Tennessee told Morse: "You've got to withdraw your amendment."

He referred to Morse's ban on letting Admiral Strauss become sole spokesman and, in effect, controller of the Atomic Energy Commission.

"If you don't withdraw it," argued Gore, "many of the Democrats who've been voting with us will desert. Knowland has been repeating that you are the real leader and the Democrats don't like to hear you referred to that way."

"Why let Knowland run your party?" challenged the independent senator from Oregon. "Why not run the party yourselves?"

Nevertheless, he withdrew the anti-Strauss amendment.

Meanwhile, two other developments were injected into the atom battle. No. 1 was the tremendous pressure of the power lobby, especially on Southern senators.

No. 2 was fear by Southern senators that the Republicans would change the rules of debate at the next session and make further filibusters impossible. And the filibuster has been the chief weapon of the South in defeating legislation on the race issue.

Cloakroom huddles took place regarding this between Gore, Lyndon Johnson, and Clements of Kentucky, during which it was reported that Johnson had promised Gore a seat on the Atomic Energy Committee if he would compromise the fight.

Finally it was decided to send a delegation of five senators to see Senate Leader Johnson. Lyndon was outwardly courteous but hardly listened to a word they said.

Syngman Rhee Comes "Home" For Promised U. S. Help

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, has come back "home"—for in this country he spent 33 years of his exile after seven years in a Japanese prison.

He is a world figure today, but few of us knew him as we sat on the same platform to receive degrees at Princeton University in June 1910. He had studied there for a doctorate and had majored in international law and American history. Previously he had received a master of arts degree at Harvard and his first academic degree at George Washington University.

Curiously enough, while studying at Princeton, young Rhee became acquainted with Woodrow Wilson, then the head of the university, who often introduced him to friends as "the future redeemer of Korea's independence."

Fought Hard For Country

Few men in modern history have fought so long and so bravely for the independence of their native land. Associated as he was with the work of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Korea, the youthful patriot strove constantly as a speaker and as a writer to interest the people of this and other countries in the future of Korea.

To hear Syngman Rhee, the gentle-mannered man of intellectual attainment and deep-seated belief in the doctrines of representative government, characterized as a "dictator" or as a man who brushes aside constitutionalism—as critics abroad have pictured him—is to accept the propaganda attempts to discredit him which have been made by the Communists and "left wing" in Europe and to some extent in this country.

Syngman Rhee has had some tough decisions to make in wartime, and he has had to deal severely with attempts to infiltrate his government by subversives, but his record as constitutional president—and particularly the reforms which he has championed—bear out the faith and trust that Americans who have known him have placed in him.

Still Fears Japanese

Many times, in the dark days while the Japanese held an iron hand over Korea, Syngman Rhee sat at the home of a friend in nearby Virginia and chatted with this writer about his hopes for Korean independence. It has been a long and melancholy struggle for him, and now that he has returned here to address a joint session of Congress and to receive the plaudits of the American people for his brave stand in leading his countrymen against the Communist aggressor, it is indeed historic vindication of a man with a moral principle.

Syngman Rhee is nearly 80, but he has a strong and vigorous mind which has not forgotten the trials and tribulations of the Far Eastern history in which he has so long played a vital part. He fears the Japanese still but knows that sooner or later the Japanese and Koreans must work together against their common enemy—the Red Chinese and Soviets. He is deeply interested in reconstructing his country, which has suffered the awful ravages of many years of war. The average American little realizes the fact the Koreans killed during the period of the fighting number in the millions and that the Koreans are a race entirely separate from the Chinese, quite capable of developing its autonomy in the world.

Indeed, the time may come when a standing army of Koreans numbering 1,000,000 trained soldiers may prove the counterbalancing force in a military way in the Far East holding at bay the aggressor armies of the Communist Chinese.

Friendly Relations Essential

The key to American policy in the Far East is a recognition that things will not soon change in that area and that strong allies are indispensable. It is essential, therefore, that friendly relations between Japan and Korea be established and this may prove possible if a regional defense pact is some day developed in which Japan can play an important military part.

But the emphasis of the hour is on ways and means of reconstructing Korea. The visit of the president of the republic is opportune because the Geneva Conference revealed all too clearly that the Communists have no intention of agreeing to the unification of Korea. More than two-thirds of the population is in South Korea and, if the republic is strengthened, it may in due time exercise a big influence on the people of North Korea, who silently watch the Red Chinese take steps virtually to annex the northern territory. Since patriotism runs among the Korean people, the Red China government cannot be relieved of the burden of policing that area and keeping large bodies of troops there—a circumstance which some day will be of vast importance if the people of China rise up in a liberation movement. At that moment will come also the chance for North Koreans to regain their liberty, too.

Syngman Rhee comes here to work out a program of economic reconstruction on which the United States has promised to help. The emphasis of his mission is on peaceful effort—a change from the days when it was being predicted that Syngman Rhee would "go it alone." For he has learned to put his faith in the sincerity and wisdom of the American government and in the conviction that it will never let him or his country down.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Latest spotter of escadrilles of aviating soup tureens is a Canadian citizen. He gandered a 144-piece dinner set of cumulus china interplaneting in a good neighbor policy of spin-the-plate.

This boy had his optic nerve wired for high-angle kibitzing. He saw a cafeteria platter from outer-parking waiting for the northern lights to change.

It was rather far north for a California smudge-pot. He says he didn't have too many drinks as far as he can remember. We suffer from the same fermented aphasia.

The China Clippers from the stratosphere were flying the Grand Crockery route. The Canadian affirms the passenger list included a three-man crew. Each one was thirteen feet tall and had six arms.

The Brooklyns could use a short-stop built like that right now. They lost six straight to much smaller giants.

The three Martians landed at the moment Mars was nearest to the earth's orbit. The Canadian CIT was not frightened by the super-muggs on planet-leave. What scared him was they were smuggling in an out-size monie during a total eclipse of Broadway's neon signs.

This etherized character was seventeen feet fall, had ten arms and cannot miss jumping center on the Minneapolis Lakers.

They're real ceiling-denters on Mars and Jupiter but so far their visits have been boiled down to touch-tag. They haven't voted yet.

Their revolving Pullmans have been spotted in California, New Mexico, North Dakota and points dubious. If a fellow looks through a telescope long enough he is going to see things that aren't there.

Anyway, these upper-stragglers aren't too pugnacious. When interviewed by the Canadian the leader replied, "I'm Mars' boy."

The Passing Show

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Passing Show—

Jim Wick, the Republican publisher who has led several expeditions of American newspaper folk behind the Iron Curtain, thanks to a request which Joe Stalin answered before his death, told the Overseas Press Club of two current anti-Communist laughs in the land behind the barrier.

On a fine balmy afternoon in Warsaw a man was detected walking along beneath an umbrella.

"Are you mad?" a friend asked. "It's not raining here."

"Right," said the umbrella carrier. "But it's raining in Moscow."

And then, Wick said, there was the case of the automobile show in Bucharest.

"What beautiful cars the Russians make," a shop-keeper enthused.

"Fool," whispered a man standing nearby. "These are American cars."

"I know that," snapped the shop-keeper, "but I don't know you."

Marty Snyder, Eisenhower's mess sergeant from North Africa to Berlin, never burned a spam steak nearly as bad as he himself was burned up the other day when New York GOP Boss Tom Curran attempted to thumbs-down his political career. Marty, a man high up in boned turkey circles now, recently announced he'd run for Congress from the 20th District of New York, represented on Capitol Hill by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Marty plans to run as an independent, but in view of his old association with the President. His continuing dedication to Ike, and his backing by an organization named the Eisenhower Independent Citizens Committee, Snyder felt he was sure to get the official GOP blessing in the area, such as it is.

The 20th, which takes in a large hunk of New York's West Side, has been a Democrat stronghold for 30 years. If young Roosevelt is drafted for the governor's race at the state convention of the Democrats September 21, Marty feels the 20th District's gallop will be a wide open race, and one that he could win if Curran would relent. New York Republican leaders from Governor Dewey down, and National GOP leaders from Leonard Hall down, have a kind word to say about Snyder's political hopes. But Curran says no, on the ground Snyder says that if he lost it might be a reflection on Eisenhower in 1956.

Delegates, reporters and visitors to the 1948 political conventions in Philadelphia will remember Marty. In the sizzling summer when Truman and Dewey were political giants, he arrived in a jeep that was equipped with ear-splitting loud-speakers, and day and night he'd play a record named "We Want Eisenhower for President." After half a month, a group of sleepless reporters based in the Bellevue-Stratford reached a police captain and had Marty chased. He never quite forgave them for their lack of prescience, and I hardly blame him.

In 1944 I spent a little time at Dannemora, New York's Alcatraz, trying to write a movie about the church which the inmates built in the yard. In the course of inspecting the prison, I asked the warden what was the reason behind the construction—then in progress—of a big new cell-block.

Getting ready for the boys to come home after the war, he said. Surely, I've often thought, it was the most damaging piece of news I've ever possessed. If I had written it then it would have been picked up by the Germans and Japanese and would have made a tremendous propaganda tool for them. them.

All of which is a clumsy way of backing into a piece in the current "Air Force" magazine. It is entitled "Red Pilots Never Had It So Good," and proves that some Russian pilots make about $100 more a month than their U. S. Air Force counterparts. In addition they pay no income tax, get free food, uniforms and cigarets, and cards that give them a 50 per cent discount at stores and restaurants.

The American pilot, reading fast, will be more inclined than ever to get out of our Air Force. The purpose of John F. Loosbrock's article, I know, is to alert taxpayers and their congressmen to do something about the constant cutting down on our fliers' benefits. But the aforementioned warden probably thought he was doing a noble thing by getting the cages ready, too.

One could wish for a defter approach.

Dark, Damp Outer Ear Canal Is Good Spot For Germs

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The outer ear canal is a blind alley separated from the inner chamber by the drum. It is a dark and damp passageway where dirt and wax accumulate. Infection of the canal is known as otitis externa, in contrast to ear infection that occurs on the other side of the drum in the middle ear (otitis media).

Disorders of the outer canal never cause death or incapacity. They are just "plain aggravating" and now and then, expensive to cure. The inflamed membrane itches, the discharge is messy, and there may be pain, soreness, and a feeling of fullness in this region. The membranes lose their luster and a typical eczema ensues.

Otitis externa is more prevalent in warmer climates and during World War II, in the South Pacific; it was so severe among service men that some had to be evacuated along with battle casualties. The association with warmth and moisture misled authorities into thinking the disease was caused by ringworm or other fungi. We now know that most cases are due to bacteria; any co-existing fungi are innocent bystanders. This change in concept has simplified and shortened treatment.

How do bacteria get into the ear? The canal is exposed to air and almost any germ can obtain squatter's rights. Bacteria rarely get the upper hand because the waxy secretions are somewhat acid, discouraging infection and in addition, most of us keep the ears clean. Should we neglect to wash the ears or to keep them dry, however, bacteria are given a chance to multiply. Moreover, the secretions may lose their acidity through internal chang., thus lowering the bars to permit further bacterial invasion.

Injury is the most common cause because it opens or weakens the lining membrane and invites bacteria to enter the tissues. The ear canal is easily traumatized. Many persons unconsciously rub or scratch the part with a finger nail; others are more violent and attack with a paper clip, hairpin, or toothpick. Now and then, itching and oozing are traced to allergy to nail polish, wave set lotion, nickel or plastic spectacle frames, or feather pillows.

Occasionally, otitis externa is part of an overall lowering of body resistance and the victim suffers from nasal, oral, or dental infection or from a vitamin deficiency as well; otitis externa also may complicate middle ear infection. The membranes become weakened as a result of the insertion of eardrops used in treating the inner ear. Some of our modern drugs are not blameless in this respect.

Best results are obtained by keeping the ears clean and dry and avoiding fingering and scratching. Improvement in general health also helps. Meanwhile, the physician attempts to classify the causative germ by sending specimen ear secretions to the laboratory for study. Then tests are run to determine what drug or combination of drugs works best. Solutions are made up and treatment is started. To avoid delay, antiseptics that kill a wide variety of germs may be administered before these tests are performed.

PIGMENTED TUMORS

E. D. writes: What is black cancer? I had one on my foot which had to be amputated.

REPLY

These lesions are known as melanomas and are relatives of moles. Their black color comes from an overabundance of pigment.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The owner of a shop that sold household appliances had himself a very beautiful—and very expensive—girl friend. Dolefully he told her one night, "Dream Boat, I guess our picnic is over. My whole place burned to the ground today, and I haven't a nickel's worth of insurance. I'm absolutely broke."

The Dream Boat kissed him on the brow and assured him, "All that won't make one bit of difference, my angel. I'll love you just as much as ever—even if I never see you again."

A lady of fifty, who lived in Sydney, Australia, won first prize in a lottery, but her joy abruptly turned to disgust when she heard what it was. "Yes, ma'am," beamed the paper's representative, "you've won a one-month-all-expenses-paid trip to London, England."

"England!" she cried. "I should say not. Isn't that the country where all the convicts come from?"

Football Rules Clinic Scheduled Here For August 23

Illinois School Executive Will Attend Session

Milton F. Sprunger To Lead Discussions At 4th Annual Meet

Milton F. Sprunger, assistant executive secretary of the Illinois High School Athletic League, with headquarters in Chicago, will be the consultant and discussion leader at the fourth annual Football Rules clinic to be held under the auspices of the Allegany County Board of Education on Monday, August 23.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Arthur G. Ramey, director of athletics for the Allegany County Board of Education, who made arrangements for Sprunger's appearance here at the convention of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations held in June at North Rim, Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Sprunger is Illinois' representative on the football rules committee of the National Federation and in recent years has served on the editorial staff of the football rules committee. Sprunger, Leslie Ansorge, of Wisconsin, and Kermit Anderson of Minnesota, led the rules discussion at the recent session of the federation in Arizona.

Before coming to Cumberland, Sprunger will conduct clinics at Indianapolis and Jackson's Mill, W. Va., where the annual grid meeting of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association will be held on Sunday, August 22. Ramey stated that an effort will be made to have William R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the West Virginia Association, accompany Sprunger to Cumberland.

The local clinic to be held at the Board of Education Building, 108 Washington Street, will be divided into morning and afternoon sessions at 9:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. and all coaches and officials of the tri-state area are cordially invited to attend.

Robinson, Snider Clout Home Runs

BROOKLYN, July 27 (AP)—The onrushing Brooklyn Dodgers won their sixth game in their last seven starts today, downing Chicago 7-6 with the help of homers by Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider.

Pending the result of tonight's St. Louis-New York game, the Dodgers trailed the league-leading Giants by only 2½ games.

Chicago didn't get a hit until there were two out in the fifth, but they knocked out Don Newcombe to score four runs in that inning and made the Dodgers hustle right down to the wire. At one point, big Newcombe had a 6-0 lead.

Gene Baker hit his 12th home run with a man on in the big inning and Hank Sauer slammed his 29th with the bases empty in the sixth off reliefer Bob Milliken.

Brooklyn ripped into Warren Hacker for a run in the second and flattened the Cubs' righthander with a big five in the third during which Robinson hit his 10th homer with a man on base. Snider's 25th came off Bill Tremel in the seventh, the run that actually provided the winning margin after the Cubs rallied for one in the eighth.

Florida Baseball League Collapses

MIAMI, Fla., July 27 (INS) — The Florida International League collapsed like a pup tent in a hurricane tonight when St. Petersburg joined the Tallahassee Rebels and the West Palm Beach Indians in quitting the four-team Class B loop.

The Saint's action came after minor league president George Trautman announced that the faltering circuit could stay alive as a two-team league until August 6.

Under Trautman's plan, the St. Petersburg Club and the Miami Flamingos would have played a "championship" series and the league would have folded on August 6.

Spokesmen for the St. Petersburg team said that prolonging the season would only increase their expenses.

Coached Morgantown High Teams 32 Years

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 27 (AP)—Arthur H. Clyde, coach and athletic director of Morgantown High School since 1922, died last midnight at a Canadian hospital where he had been seriously ill for more than three weeks.

He was 64. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Clyde was on an annual fishing trip with his wife when his appendix ruptured, gangrene set in and he developed pneumonia.

Born in Ohio, Clyde was graduated from Geneva College and began his coaching career at Cameron, Marshall County, in 1915.

In 32 years at Morgantown, he produced a state championship track team, two undefeated football teams and three basketball teams which reached semi-finals of the state tournament.

Cleveland Beats Bosox, 6-3; Yankees And Giants Lose

Virgil Trucks Scores Shutout Over New York

Beats Champions, 4-0; Cardinals Hand Giants Sixth Loss In Row, 7-4

CHICAGO, July 27 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox were a smashing success tonight in their opening bid to sweep a three-game series from the New York Yankees, turning back the New Yorkers 4-0 as Virgil Trucks fireballed a five-hitter for his fourth shutout of the season.

The largest crowd of the season and the third largest in White Sox history, 53,607, poured into Comiskey Park to watch the Sox make good on the first part of their professed aim to send the defending champions away from Chicago without a win.

Trucks, whose powerful arm delivers his famed fastball with as much speed as ever, sailed to his 14th victory of the season with a minimum of trouble.

Irv Noren, the American League's leading batter, was the only Yankee who enjoyed any real success against Trucks. Noren hit safely three times.

Cards Top Giants

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals inflicted the sixth straight loss upon the slump-ridden New York Giants tonight, pounding out a 7-4 victory to trim the Giants' first place lead over Brooklyn to two games.

Held scoreless through the first five innings, the Cardinals caught up with Jim Hearn in the sixth and continued their assault on Ruben Gomez, scoring four times in the last two innings to win an uphill battle.

Stan Musial featured the sixth inning outburst, blasting his 28th home run off Hearn with two mates aboard to put his team in front 3-2. After Dusty Rhodes had brought the Giants even in their half of the sixth with his fifth four-bagger of the year, the Cards went ahead to stay in their eighth when Wally Moon hit his 10th circuit of the season.

Willie Mays accounted for the final Giant run in the ninth, hammering a 450-foot homer, his 35th of the year.

Chick Harbert Tops Burkemo For PGA Title

Michigan Pro Beats Defending Champ In 36-Hole Final, 4-3

ST. PAUL, July 27 (AP) — Chick Harbert's long and disheartening quest for the PGA Golf Championship ended today when the barrel-chested Northville, Mich., pro shook off an atrocious start to whip defending champion Walter Burkemo, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole finals at the Keller course.

The 39-year-old, prematurely-graying Harbert, wild as a scattergun but pirate bold, won as perhaps no other champion ever won in a big-time event. After losing three of the first four holes, he played the next 29 in 8 under par.

He hit into a cornfield, under a fir tree, onto an asphalt road, in a dozen traps and more rough than fairway, yet sheer bull strength and refusal to quit carried him past a tiring Burkemo, showing the strain of the week-long ordeal.

It was the ninth PGA bid for Harbert, who never before got farther than the finals which he reached twice—in 1947 and 1952. It was the third finals in four years for Burkemo, beaten by Sam Snead at Oakmont in 1951.

Virgil Marple Belts Three Home Runs In Dapper Dan Contest

Virgil Marple, first sacker, smashed three home runs as the Indians trounced the Athletics in a Dapper Dan Little League game yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 17-6.

Ansel Shircliffe also had three hits for Manager "Whip" Kreitzburg's aggregation. The losers garnered 13 hits, six of which were shared by Davis and Clark.

Mike Firle fanned eight Athletics and made his record 4-0 for the season.

Patsy Algieri's Giants captured a slugfest affair from the Yankees at Penn Avenue Field, 10 to 7. The Giants' infield completed two double plays and Jack Weltman Schindler headed the attack with three hits each. Jack had four of the winners' 12 hits. Robinson and Schindler collected three hits each for the Yankees.

Reliefer Gary Henry pitched one-hit ,shutout ball and fanned eight as the Phillies took the Cardinals into camp, 7 to 5. Donald Nave smacked a homer and single and batted in four runs, including the winning tally with a sacrifice fly. Henry had two hits as did Donnie Reynolds of the Cardinals. The scores:

Jim Roby's sacrifice fly and Jim Angellatta's single through short produced two runs in the top of the eighth inning and gave the Loyal Order of Moose a 4-2 decision over the B.P.O. Elks in a Rocking Chair Softball League overtime battle yesterday at Allegany Field.

The victory moved the Moose within a half game of the first place Outdoor Club which was idle yesterday.

"Bud" Young led off the eighth with a single and advanced to third on John Harbaugh's base wallop. Roby scored Young with what proved to be the winning run with a long fly to right field and Harbaugh raced to third after the catch. The latter scored the insurance tally on Angellatta's bingle.

The Elks threatened in their half of the eighth but with first and second occupied George Geatz, Frank Williams and Jim Angellatta engineered a double play that ended the contest.

George Geatz of the Moose and Jim Gaffney of the Elks smacked a double and single each. The win was Roby's 8th against five losses. Gaffney has won three and lost four.

Al Sheetz notched his third shutout triumph of the season as the Eagles handed the K. of C. their 17th straight setback of the campaign at Stitcher Field, 2-0. Sheetz, who now owns a 9-2 record, yielded three hits, singles by Shaffer and Zembower and Steiner's two-bagger, and struck out 11. Bill Welsh collected two of the Eagles' eight hits while Sheetz and Bill Dean rapped two-baggers.

Sheetz's double and an infield error netted the Eagles' first run in the 4th. Andy Lewis singled home Bill Welsh with the final marker in the 6th.

Rattina of the Eagles turned in a nice catch on Shaffer's fly to right field and "Buck" Shober, K. of C. keystone sacker, speared a line drive from Schupfer's bat. The scores:

Chancellor Adenauer's Remarkable Restraint

Some men, if they were in the position now occupied by Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the West German Republic, would be using the present moment as an opportunity to win some political gains at French expense. The principle is simple: When your opponent is in trouble, press him hard. And there is no doubt that the French are in trouble in Southeast Asia and not in a good position to stand firm on European questions if Dr. Adenauer pushed them now.

But the sagacious old man who has piloted West Germany to a political stability that is as remarkable as its economic resurgence is not doing any pushing. On the contrary, he said at Berlin the other day that he is ready to negotiate with France any revisions in the European Defense Community treaty that would not require ratification by the German parliament. Furthermore, he is prepared to make "a generous interpretation of the agreed treaty to satisfy any additional justified French desires."

This is more than fair. EDC was first put forward by the French, and the representatives of France signed it just as did the representatives of the other five nations that were involved. Four of the six have now ratified the treaty. It is a little late in the day for France to come up with a demand that the whole business must be renegotiated. But Chancellor Adenauer's position is that he is prepared to find a way to meet French wishes without doing it all over again.

It is significant that this is the attitude he takes toward French fears that under the treaty Germany might gain dominance on the continent. They want even more safeguards than they have been given already—and those given included strong assurances from Britain and the United States to keep forces in Europe as long as necessary. Dr. Adenauer is prepared to give these additional assurances.

These Days

Without Religion, No Resistance

Asia is the homeland of the religions of the human race. While Catholicism ultimately developed in the European lands of the Roman Empire and most Protestant groups grew in the Germanic countries, Switzerland and England, Christianity is an Oriental religion out of Palestine and Syria. Although all human beings, even the most primitive, develop some form of religious experience, the great universal churches which have crossed national borders and have affected millions of people are the specific contributions of Asia to civilization.

Religion has, in every Asiatic country, determined the social characteristics of the people. In China, historically four religions have been important: Taoism, Confucianism, Buddhism and Islam. Taoism and Buddhism have become largely ritualistic in China, with emphasis on supernatural intervention in private lives. Confucianism is a pragmatic, atheistic, materialistic philosophy which has taken on the characteristics of a church and which has, in Western eyes, at least, the formalities of ancestor worship. Islam in China is extensive, reaching from Turkestan to Shantung.

Hinduism, as a religion, is pantheistic, gloriously exultant in its literature but degeneratively ritualistic and superstitious in its non-philosophic expressions among the masses. Its literature is beautiful almost beyond anything that appears in other religious conceptions. Indian Buddhism has taken on several manifestations, some often producing degenerate sex aspects. It would be impossible to catalogue all the varieties of religious expression in India and the adjoining countries, and it is probably unimportant to do so here. What is significant is the enormous role played by great religions in these countries and how they have degenerated from the noblest spiritual movements among the people to ritualistic superstition.

Islam is the religion of Pakistan and Karachi is one of the most important Islamic cultural centers in all the world. Islam reaches into many parts of India. Pakistan is a bulwark against communism as, thus far, are all Islamic countries. Whereas Nehru, in the current climate of India, finds public opinion antagonistic to stern resistance against Russia, Pakistan is in alliance with the United States and is firmly set against Marxism.

Christianity came to China early in the Nestorian manifestation, probably in the 7th Century. The Nestorians were absorbed in the native population and disappeared, leaving only an historic record. The Dominicans came in the 14th Century and the Jesuits in the 15th Century. Among the greatest of the Jesuit missionaries was Matteo Ricci (1552-1610) who exercised a tremendous influence in the imperial court. At one period, the Chinese emperor, K'ang Hsi (1655-1723) was ready to adopt Christianity as the court religion and to convert the country, but the Jesuits and Dominicans got snarled in a quarrel over the name of God, whether it was to be translated as Shang Ti or Tien Chu and when the Pope intervened to instruct the Chinese emperor as to the correct use of Chinese, the emperor ordered Christian missionaries out of China (in 1706) with a few exceptions.

Christianity also moved in from the South, influencing India as well as China through the missionary efforts of Francis Xavier whose memory is still green. Also British and American Protestants appeared in the early 19th Century in South China as missionaries, expanding their influence throughout the country. So potent were the small number of Christians that until the Communists took over, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in China was almost entirely manned by graduates of Christian colleges. Under British rule, both Protestant and Catholic missionaries made considerable progress in India. Goa, a Portuguese colony in India, developed into an important Catholic center. In both countries, American Catholic and Protestant missionaries had grown increasingly numerous and influential until World War II. However, wherever the Chinese Communists take over, Christians are expelled and in some instances martyred.

It is historically interesting to note that only Christianity and Islam possess the inner strength and courage in these countries to generate opposition to Marxism. It is in the nature of the current world struggle that a Confucian will find little, from a philosophic standpoint, that is offensive in Marxism, nor will a Hindu. On the other hand, a Christian or a Moslem, in whatever country, obviously cannot accept a philosophic system which rejects the concept of a mystical God who created the Earth and all that is upon it, including man.

What Do I Do When He Gets Hungry Again?

Backstage Factors Led To Senate's Filibuster Over Atomic Power Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The inside story of the greatest filibuster in modern Senate history can now be told. Whatever you may say about filibusters, this one also concerned one of the most important bills in modern times.

It established machinery governing the atomic power that will run the nation's factories and electric-light plants in the next 75 years.

In the past, the great water-power sites of the United States have been developed in part by private utilities, in part by the government. But the basic battle in the Atomic Energy Bill was the giving of all atomic power to private industry. The government would have no look-in at all. At one point Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, the Republican in charge of the bill for the Eisenhower forces, even introduced an amendment banning the government from spending any funds whatsoever for developing commercial power.

Chief backer and pusher of the atomic power bill was Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and partner of the Wall Street banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Co. This is one of the big investment bankers which have been financing the private power companies anxious to get a grip on atomic power.

Another Wall Street investment firm, Lehman Brothers, has hired Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; while a third big Wall Street firm, Lazard Freres, has hired David Lilienthal, another former AEC chairman. Both men have kept carefully aloof from the legislative battle, however.

These were the backstage factors which caused a group of senators to meet in the District of Columbia Senate Committee Room about 10 days ago to pledge a battle to the bitter end against the atomic bill. At that meeting, Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama, one of the senior Southern Democrats, was appointed captain of the group, with Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Clinton Anderson of New Mexico the lieutenants in charge of amendments.

It was agreed that there would be a carefully arranged schedule of speakers with each man taking his turn.

"I'm prepared to speak six hours a day," declared able Senator Gore of Tennessee enthusiastically. "With this plan we can carry on from now until Christmas."

Little did the group realize that the man who spoke, despite his ability, would be the first to crumble when the fighting got tough.

For three days the filibuster operated with clocklike precision. Every speaker was in his place at the right time, carried on for the allotted length of time. It looked as if they could operate indefinitely.

But last Friday night, as Knowland of California fought in vain to stop the filibuster, three things happened. One was petty and personal, only important in a body where alleged statesmen can put personal prestige ahead of issues that affect the nation.

It began with a statement by Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama that the Republican leadership might better consult those who were doing the real fighting against the atom giveaway rather than consult the alleged Democratic leadership.

What Sparkman indirectly referred to was the fact that Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, was not leading this fight, but was sitting on the sideline. And Sparkman suggested the Republicans would be better off conferring wtih the leaders of the filibuster rather than the man who was not leading.

This got under Johnson's skin. He came over to Sparkman's desk on the Senate floor and waved his arms. Sparkman pounded his desk in Lyndon's face. Sparkman, the man who made the remark, was vice presidential candidate in 1952. He has plenty of prestige. But Johnson, the man who heard it, aspires to be vice presidential candidate — or better — in 1956.

So, later that night, "Lyin' down Lyndon," as he is sometimes called, was heard telling Gore of Tennessee: "We're going to find out who is going to stand up and vote for my leadership rather than that of Wayne Morse."

Simultaneously, more personal peeve had been injected into the battle. Knowing Lyndon Johnson's vanity, Knowland kept needling the Democrats that Morse, the Oregon independent, was the real leader of the Democrats.

This was discussed at a secret meeting of the atom bill's opponents in Lister Hill's office late Friday at which Gore of Tennessee told Morse: "You've got to withdraw your amendment."

He referred to Morse's ban on letting Admiral Strauss become sole spokesman and, in effect, controller of the Atomic Energy Commission.

"If you don't withdraw it," argued Gore, "many of the Democrats who've been voting with us will desert. Knowland has been repeating that you are the real leader and the Democrats don't like to hear you referred to that way."

"Why let Knowland run your party?" challenged the independent senator from Oregon. "Why not run the party yourselves?"

Nevertheless, he withdrew the anti-Strauss amendment.

Meanwhile, two other developments were injected into the atom battle. No. 1 was the tremendous pressure of the power lobby, especially on Southern senators.

No. 2 was fear by Southern senators that the Republicans would change the rules of debate at the next session and make further filibusters impossible. And the filibuster has been the chief weapon of the South in defeating legislation on the race issue.

Cloakroom huddles took place regarding this between Gore, Lyndon Johnson, and Clements of Kentucky, during which it was reported that Johnson had promised Gore a seat on the Atomic Energy Committee if he would compromise the fight.

Finally it was decided to send a delegation of five senators to see Senate Leader Johnson. Lyndon was outwardly courteous but hardly listened to a word they said.

Syngman Rhee Comes "Home" For Promised U. S. Help

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, has come back "home"—for in this country he spent 33 years of his exile after seven years in a Japanese prison.

He is a world figure today, but few of us knew him as we sat on the same platform to receive degrees at Princeton University in June 1910. He had studied there for a doctorate and had majored in international law and American history. Previously he had received a master of arts degree at Harvard and his first academic degree at George Washington University.

Curiously enough, while studying at Princeton, young Rhee became acquainted with Woodrow Wilson, then the head of the university, who often introduced him to friends as "the future redeemer of Korea's independence."

Fought Hard For Country

Few men in modern history have fought so long and so bravely for the independence of their native land. Associated as he was with the work of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Korea, the youthful patriot strove constantly as a speaker and as a writer to interest the people of this and other countries in the future of Korea.

To hear Syngman Rhee, the gentle-mannered man of intellectual attainment and deep-seated belief in the doctrines of representative government, characterized as a "dictator" or as a man who brushes aside constitutionalism—as critics abroad have pictured him—is to accept the propaganda attempts to discredit him which have been made by the Communists and "left wing" in Europe and to some extent in this country.

Syngman Rhee has had some tough decisions to make in wartime, and he has had to deal severely with attempts to infiltrate his government by subversives, but his record as constitutional president—and particularly the reforms which he has championed—bear out the faith and trust that Americans who have known him have placed in him.

Still Fears Japanese

Many times, in the dark days while the Japanese held an iron hand over Korea, Syngman Rhee sat at the home of a friend in nearby Virginia and chatted with this writer about his hopes for Korean independence. It has been a long and melancholy struggle for him, and now that he has returned here to address a joint session of Congress and to receive the plaudits of the American people for his brave stand in leading his countrymen against the Communist aggressor, it is indeed historic vindication of a man with a moral principle.

Syngman Rhee is nearly 80, but he has a strong and vigorous mind which has not forgotten the trials and tribulations of the Far Eastern history in which he has so long played a vital part. He fears the Japanese still but knows that sooner or later the Japanese and Koreans must work together against their common enemy—the Red Chinese and Soviets. He is deeply interested in reconstructing his country, which has suffered the awful ravages of many years of war. The average American little realizes the fact the Koreans killed during the period of the fighting number in the millions and that the Koreans are a race entirely separate from the Chinese, quite capable of developing its autonomy in the world.

Indeed, the time may come when a standing army of Koreans numbering 1,000,000 trained soldiers may prove the counterbalancing force in a military way in the Far East holding at bay the aggressor armies of the Communist Chinese.

Friendly Relations Essential

The key to American policy in the Far East is a recognition that things will not soon change in that area and that strong allies are indispensable. It is essential, therefore, that friendly relations between Japan and Korea be established and this may prove possible if a regional defense pact is some day developed in which Japan can play an important military part.

But the emphasis of the hour is on ways and means of reconstructing Korea. The visit of the president of the republic is opportune because the Geneva Conference revealed all too clearly that the Communists have no intention of agreeing to the unification of Korea. More than two-thirds of the population is in South Korea and, if the republic is strengthened, it may in due time exercise a big influence on the people of North Korea, who silently watch the Red Chinese take steps virtually to annex the northern territory. Since patriotism runs among the Korean people, the Red China government cannot be relieved of the burden of policing that area and keeping large bodies of troops there—a circumstance which some day will be of vast importance if the people of China rise up in a liberation movement. At that moment will come also the chance for North Koreans to regain their liberty, too.

Syngman Rhee comes here to work out a program of economic reconstruction on which the United States has promised to help. The emphasis of his mission is on peaceful effort—a change from the days when it was being predicted that Syngman Rhee would "go it alone." For he has learned to put his faith in the sincerity and wisdom of the American government and in the conviction that it will never let him or his country down.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Latest spotter of escadrilles of aviating soup tureens is a Canadian citizen. He gandered a 144-piece dinner set of cumulus china interplaneting in a good neighbor policy of spin-the-plate.

This boy had his optic nerve wired for high-angle kibitzing. He saw a cafeteria platter from outer-parking waiting for the northern lights to change.

It was rather far north for a California smudge-pot. He says he didn't have too many drinks as far as he can remember. We suffer from the same fermented aphasia.

The China Clippers from the stratosphere were flying the Grand Crockery route. The Canadian affirms the passenger list included a three-man crew. Each one was thirteen feet tall and had six arms.

The Brooklyns could use a short-stop built like that right now. They lost six straight to much smaller giants.

The three Martians landed at the moment Mars was nearest to the earth's orbit. The Canadian CIT was not frightened by the supermuggs on planet-leave. What scared him was they were smuggling in an out-size monie during a total eclipse of Broadway's neon signs.

This etherized character was seventeen feet fall, had ten arms and cannot miss jumping center on the Minneapolis Lakers.

They're real ceiling-denters on Mars and Jupiter but so far their visits have been boiled down to touch-tag. They haven't voted yet.

Their revolving Pullmans have been spotted in California, New Mexico, North Dakota and points dubious. If a fellow looks through a telescope long enough he is going to see things that aren't there.

Anyway, these upper-stragglers aren't too pugnacious. When interviewed by the Canadian the leader replied, "I'm Mars' boy."

The Passing Show

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Passing Show—

Jim Wick, the Republican publisher who has led several expeditions of American newspaper folk behind the Iron Curtain, thanks to a request which Joe Stalin answered before his death, told the Overseas Press Club of two current anti-Communist laughs in the land behind the barrier.

On a fine balmy afternoon in Warsaw a man was detected walking along beneath an umbrella.

"Are you mad?" a friend asked. "It's not raining here."

"Right," said the umbrella carrier. "But it's raining in Moscow."

And then, Wick said, there was the case of the automobile show in Bucharest.

"What beautiful cars the Russians make," a shop-keeper enthused.

"Fool," whispered a man standing nearby, "These are American cars."

"I know that," snapped the shop-keeper, "but I don't know you."

Marty Snyder, Eisenhower's mess sergeant from North Africa to Berlin, never burned a spam steak nearly as bad as he himself was burned up the other day when New York GOP Boss Tom Curran attempted to thumbs-down his political career. Marty, a man high up in boned turkey circles now, recently announced he'd run for Congress from the 20th District of New York, represented on Capitol Hill by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Marty plans to run as an independent, but in view of his old association with the President. His continuing dedication to Ike, and his backing by an organization named the Eisenhower Independent Citizens Committee, Snyder felt he was sure to get the official GOP blessing in the area, such as it is.

The 20th, which takes in a large hunk of New York's West Side, has been a Democrat stronghold for 30 years. If young Roosevelt is drafted for the governor's race at the state convention of the Democrats September 21, Marty feels the 20th District's gallop will be a wide open race, and one that he could win if Curran would relent. New York Republican leaders from Governor Dewey down, and National GOP leaders from Leonard Hall down, have a kind word to say about Snyder's political hopes. But Curran says no, on the ground Snyder says that if he lost it might be a reflection on Eisenhower in 1956.

Delegates, reporters and visitors to the 1948 political conventions in Philadelphia will remember Marty. In the sizzling summer when Trumand and Dewey were political giants, he arrived in a jeep that was equipped with ear-splitting loud-speakers, and day and night he'd play a record named "We Want Eisenhower for President." After half a month, a group of sleepless reporters based in the Bellevue-Stratford reached a police captain and had Marty chased. He never quite forgave them for their lack of prescience, and I hardly blame him.

In 1944 I spent a little time at Dannemora, New York's Alcatraz, trying to write a movie about the church which the inmates built in the yard. In the course of inspecting the prison, I asked the warden what was the reason behind the construction—then in progress—of a big new cell-block.

Getting ready for the boys to come home after the war, he said. Surely, I've often thought, it was the most damaging piece of news I've ever possessed. If I had written it then it would have been picked up by the Germans and Japanese and would have made a tremendous propaganda tool for them, them.

All of which is a clumsy way of backing into a piece in the current "Air Force" magazine. It is entitled "Red Pilots Never Had It So Good," and proves that some Russian pilots make about $100 more a month than their U. S. Air Force counterparts. In addition they pay no income tax, get free food, uniforms and cigarets, and cards that give them a 50 per cent discount at stores and restaurants.

The American pilot, reading fast, will be more inclined than ever to get out of our Air Force. The purpose of John F. Loosbrock's article, I know, is to alert taxpayers and their congressmen to do something about the constant cutting down on our fliers' benefits. But the aforementioned warden probably thought he was doing a noble thing by getting the cages ready, too.

One could wish for a defter approach.

Dark, Damp Outer Ear Canal Is Good Spot For Germs

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The outer ear canal is a blind alley separated from the inner chamber by the drum. It is a dark and damp passageway where dirt and wax accumulate. Infection of the canal is known as otitis externa, in contrast to ear infection that occurs on the other side of the drum in the middle ear (otitis media).

Disorders of the outer canal never cause death or incapacity. They are just "plain aggravating" and now and then, expensive to cure. The inflamed membrane itches, the discharge is messy, and there may be pain, soreness, and a feeling of fullness in this region. The membranes lose their luster and a typical eczema ensues.

Otitis externa is more prevalent in warmer climates and during World War II, in the South Pacific; it was so severe among service men that some had to be evacuated along with battle casualties. The association with warmth and moisture misled authorities into thinking the disease was caused by ringworm or other fungi. We now know that most cases are due to bacteria; any co-existing fungi are innocent bystanders. This change in concept has simplified and shortened treatment.

How do bacteria get into the ear? The canal is exposed to air and almost any germ can obtain squatter's rights. Bacteria rarely get the upper hand because the waxy secretions are somewhat acid, discouraging infection and in addition, most of us keep the ears clean. Should we neglect to wash the ears or to keep them dry, however, bacteria are given a chance to multiply. Moreover, the secretions may lose their acidity through internal chang. , thus lowering the bars to permit further bacterial invasion.

Injury is the most common cause because it opens or weakens the lining membrane and invites bacteria to enter the tissues. The ear canal is easily traumatized. Many persons unconsciously rub or scratch the part with a finger nail; others are more violent and attack with a paper clip, hairpin, or toothpick. Now and then, itching and oozing are traced to allergy to nail polish, wave set lotion, nickel or plastic spectacle frames, or feather pillows.

Occasionally, otitis externa is part of an overall lowering of body resistance and the victim suffers from nasal, oral, or dental infection or from a vitamin deficiency as well; otitis externa also may complicate middle ear infection. The membranes become weakened as a result of the insertion of eardrops used in treating the inner ear. Some of our modern drugs are not blameless in this respect.

Best results are obtained by keeping the ears clean and dry and avoiding fingering and scratching. Improvement in general health also helps. Meanwhile, the physician attempts to classify the causative germ by sending specimen ear secretions to the laboratory for study. Then tests are run to determine what drug or combination of drugs works best. Solutions are made up and treatment is started. To avoid delay, antiseptics that kill a wide variety of germs may be administered before these tests are performed.

Try And Stop Me

The owner of a shop that sold household appliances had himself a very beautiful—and very expensive—girl friend. Dolefully he told her one night, "Dream Boat, I guess our picnic is over. My whole place burned to the ground today, and I haven't a nickel's worth of insurance. I'm absolutely broke."

The Dream Boat kissed him on the brow and assured him, "All that won't make one bit of difference, my angel. I'll love you just as much as ever—even if I never see you again."

A lady of fifty, who lived in Sydney, Australia, won first prize in a lottery, but her joy abruptly turned to disgust when she heard what it was. "Yes, ma'am," beamed the paper's representative, "you've won a one-month-all-expenses-paid trip to London, England."

"England!" she cried. "I should say not. Isn't that the country where all the convicts come from?"

Six Years Of Sullivan

Ed Sullivan, who was elected least likely to succeed when he went on the air with "Toast of the Town," has not only survived but prospered for six long years now, which just goes to show how wrong people can be.

The other day Mr. Sullivan was asked his own explanation for his own hardihood in a medium which has gobbled up so many more talented people in a third that time. "Guts," said Mr. S. Sullivan has persistently gone and done what he thought ought to be done in spite of enormous pressures to do otherwise.

From the outset, people whose judgment he respected told him that a variety show would never go on TV and was as dead as vaudeville. He didn't believe it and statistics seem to prove he was right. He has always believed there is nothing too highbrow for a TV audience and is very proud of having landed the Sadlers Wells ballet on TV after a great deal of difficulty.

Sullivan likes his show to be unpredictable rather than running to format and he gives this great credit for contributing to Toast's success. His biographical shows of Oscar Hammerstein, Helen Hayes, Robert E. Sherwood and others were a complete break with tradition and very successful, not because of the great show business bits that were played on them but for an indefinable human quality they had.

The best example of this was during the Josh Logan story. There were tidbits from many of Logan's hits which include some of the greatest hits in theatrical history. Still, great as they were, the show was just a monotonous parade of success and Logan asked Sullivan if he could tell the story of his own mental breakdown and cure. This bit, told simply and badly by Logan, was the most memorable thing in the show and had some notable after-effects. A Supreme Court judge in Pennsylvania saw the show and reversed a lower court decision denying a mother of three children, who had once been mentally ill, the custody of her three children. Part of Logan's talk was incorporated into the decision. Later the head of Oklahoma's mental health program told Sullivan he had been unable to get funds out of the budget commission until the commissioners saw the Logan bit on television. Then the commission voted him $1,500,000.

There were other examples of the same thing. Helen Hayes told of a scene she played in "Victoria Regina" in which a workman shouts to the Queen: "Go it, old girl, you've done it well." She added that after a full and happy life she hoped people would say to her: "Go it, old girl, you've done it well." Broke the joint up. And the most fetching bit from the Oscar Hammerstein story was not any of the great array of famous singers, dancers and actors—but Oscar himself reciting the lyrics from his song "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Sullivan likes to bust formula by putting interesting people in new settings, getting them to do something they've never done before, and changing his show all around so the viewers never know what to expect. Once he placed a group of opera singers in evening dress rather than operatic costumes, put them in a booth at El Morocco where they chatted about arias—and then bust into them

Another time he had twenty top jockeys in dinner jackets and top hats in a song and dance number. Three top ball players sang "Take Me Out To the Ball Game." And Sugar Ray Robinson stopped the show by jumping rope to music like a ballet dancer. Some of these novelties come off, some don't. But they keep the audience off balance.

Every year, Sullivan says, TV gets more expensive and more difficult as the audience gets more and more hep. Entertainers he once got for $50 get $1,500—and some get $3,500. Occasionally Sullican looks at a kinescope of an old show he once thought was great—and shudders at how bad it is.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

WHY DID HE DO THAT?

ASKING yourself occasional questions is a component part of all good thinking during both the bidding and the play. Why did he do that? The answer to this can often tell you just what there is about the player's hand that impelled him to take the course he chose. If it is your partner who is concerned, and he had not made a lead of the suit you bid, maybe it could be because he had no cards of it.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♥	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Dbl.

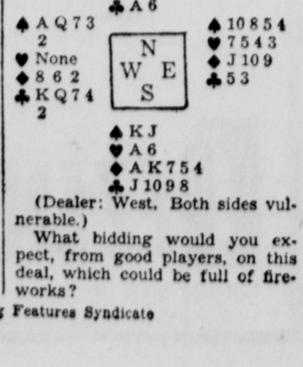

Bidding about like that came at a lot of tables in a duplicate game. To beat the heart sacrifice, not vulnerable, for enough points to top the makeable vulnerable 5-Spades — worth 150 in tricks plus 500 for vulnerable game bonus — required a four-trick set, producing 700 points.

One inept pair of defenders failed to do that. The spade 10 lead brought the K and A, the Q was scored, and East made the very bad lead of the spade 7, enabling South to ruff in dummy while discarding the club J. The heart 9 ran to the K, and West was not smart enough to reason why East had not returned a diamond, West's bid. So West led his club Q, which the K and A topped and South ruffed. The heart 6 drove out the A and the club 7 was led to the 10, the heart J ruffing and the Q over-ruffing. South then led the diamond 2 to the K, fifth and last defensive trick for down three, only 500 points, a losing score.

At another table, Col. Mark C. Fox, United States Air Force, Retired, a star engineer, sat East. After his second spade trick, he led the heart J, which was covered by the Q and A. West realized why a diamond had not been led, so led the 6 himself for the heart 7 to ruff. The club A was now cashed, and later West won with the diamond K and heart A to make a total of seven tricks. That put the contract down five for a score of 900, most any East-West pair garnered on the deal.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

What bidding would you expect, from good players, on this deal, which could be full of fireworks?

Special Events To Feature Bedford Fair, August 9-14

BEDFORD — Two special events, supplementing the regularly scheduled entertainment features, will augment the program of the great Bedford Fair, which will open Monday, August 9, continuing with day and night attractions through Saturday, August 14.

A 4-H Tractor Driving Contest, preceded by a cavalcade of farm equipment, has been scheduled at 10 o'clock Friday morning by the Bedford County Ag Extension office. Winners will be entered in district and state contests.

In addition, the tri-county championship Horseshoe Pitching contest will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Entries from Bedford, Blair and Fulton counties will be received until August 9. The three-county winner will be entered in the State Farm Show championship and farm show rules will prevail.

The Bedford Fair, offering finer exhibits from Bedford, Blair and Fulton counties than ever before in its 80-year history, will open officially with Joie Chitwood and his Auto Daredevils Monday night in front of the grandstand. Monday is entry day.

Special events are scheduled all day Tuesday, the first of two Children's Days, during which more than 40,000 school children have been invited to attend the fair free. Special prices will prevail for kiddies on the grandstand.

Annual Horse Show

The annual Bedford Horse Show will start at 10:30, with three fast harness races in the afternoon, in addition to the first performance of six fine vaudeville acts in front of the grandstand. Prell's Midway Shows will offer special rates and prizes to the kiddies, and at the close of the afternoon prize awards will be presented to lucky youngsters attending in a special program.

One of George A. Hamid's finest grandstand shows, the beautiful "Land of Legend," featuring the famous Disappearing Water Ballet, will be presented each night, Tuesday through Saturday. An expanded chorus of 26 Roxyettes, in new and beautiful costumes, will present the familiar scenes of the fairytale books in a scintillating revue, augmented by six fine vaudeville acts which have been integrated into the show.

Performers include the musical Bobrow Brothers, the comic Jerry Builders, the spectacular Coldberg contortionists, Elaine Andre and her dwarfs, the Ganjou Brothers and Juanita, adagio dancers, and the amazing Hogar, aerial acrobat.

Plan Thrill Day

Irish Horan and his "hell drivers" will present the feature show on Wednesday afternoon of Thrill Day, with a display of precision driving and stunts, followed by the second showing of the Grandstand Revue that evening. Judging of dairy cattle will start Wednesday morning.

The horseshoe pitching championship matches and a cavalcade of all prize-winning livestock in front of the grandstand at 1 o'clock will lead off events on Thursday, traditionally "the Big Day" at the fair. Three fine harness races, plus circus acts, complete the afternoon entertainment, with the grandstand revue in the evening.

Blair County Day will be marked Friday, and special arrangements have been made to honor Altoona and Blair countians at the fair. All children will again be admitted free, with special rates on the grandstand for kiddies during the day, and prizes donated by Altoona during a special program. Again, three harness races, plus the regular evening show and circus acts. The 4-H Tractor Driving contest, and Baby Beef Sale at the new beef pavillion, will be morning event.

Stock Car Races

Sam Nunis will bring leading drivers of Indianapolis and the eastern circuit to Bedford for the annual AAA-sanctioned stock car auto races Saturday afternoon. Time trials start at 1 o'clock, followed by six main events, climaxed by a 20-lap sweepstakes. The fair will close with the final performance of the big night revue Saturday night.

This year, the fair management has passed along tax savings to its patrons, by reducing the price of tickets both at the main gate and grandstand. Reserved box seats may be ordered in advance.

Frostburg Briefs

The Eckhart Homemakers Club will visit Pittsburgh Wednesday, August 11, on a sight-seeing tour. A bus will leave Eckhart at 6:30 a. m., that day. All reservations for the trip must be given Mrs. Molly Dudley no later than Saturday, July 31.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 27—(INS)—Ida Lupino parks her independent producer title to go to work for another producer, Brynie Foy, as one of the stars in "Women's Prison" at Columbia.

This is the first picture Ida has made, except under her own independent set-up banner with Collier Young, in several years.

"Women's Prison" is about the few remaining penal institutions in the country which still have men and women prisoners under the same roof. Most states now maintain separate prisons for men and women. Cleo Moore is also in the line-up and Foy tells me there will be others.

Ida plays the well-educated but sadistic supervisor of the women's side of the prison wall under Lew Seiler's direction.

William Holden was at the Angleterre Hotel in Copenhagen when Bill Perlberg and George Seaton caught up with him via transatlantic 'phone about "The Magnificent Devils" (formerly "Magnificent Bastards").

Before you start screaming that Clark Gable is the only guy to play Colin Black, hardbitten Marine Raiders commander in Lucy Herndon Crockett's best seller, let me get in my two cents: I think Bill Holden can play anything—even a role seemingly written for Gable.

Bill is a particular pet of the producing team of Perlberg and Seaton having been in their two most recent, "Country Girl" and "The Bridges At Toko-Ri."

Cameron Mitchell goes on loan-out from 20th to join Greer Garson and Dana Andrews in "Strange Lady In Town" for Producer-Director Mervyn Le Roy on the Warner lot.

I didn't know that Cameron actually credits Mervyn with being his screen discoverer. "He gave me my first screen role in 'Homecoming'," says Cam. "It'll be nice to work with him again."

If you think for a moment that Claudette Colbert hasn't extraordinary talent and style as an artist you should hear the large groups surrounding her oil painting, "Melinda," on exhibition at the Festival of Arts in Laguna Beach.

Claudette has caught perfectly the beauty of a little redheaded girl with serious blue eyes and a slightly sunburned nose. Van Johnson, Gladys Robinson, Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore all have interesting paintings in the celebrities gallery.

As for the "living" recreation of the masters, the show is even more impressive than usual this year—a must—if you're anywhere around locally.

Hollywood in shorts:

The girl who has been visiting Ed Tierney regularly at the prison farm is Betty Woods, ex-secretary of Corinne Calvet.

Faith Domergue is recuperating in a darkened room at home following surgery on her eyes last week at Good Samaritan Hospital.

The State Department is enthused about Joe DiMaggio's idea of taking a good will baseball team to Italy for exhibition games. Haven't heard how Marilyn feels about it.

Jack Benny, back from his sensational tour, sneaked (he hopes) into Lake Tahoe to get in some undisturbed golf and fishing. Then, back to the jute mill to ready his fall shows.

Spent the weekend in Laguna Beach with our trailer-guest, Beverly Putnam, the girl who rated so much international publicity when she took an all-girl (!) safari wild game hunting in Africa. You should hear some of her experiences with 13 belles and one white hunter leading the pack—material for both great comedy and top melodrama.

An ironic afternote to the sad and sudden death of Producer Leonard Goldstein is that he was a daily visitor to Leo Spitz when the former head of U-I was confined to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for six months with a heart condition.

That's all.

Walsh Represents Byrd In Centreville Recount

William C. Walsh left yesterday for Centreville, Queen Anne's County where both the Talbot and Queen Anne's recount cases filed by attorneys of George P. Mahoney will be heard this morning. The Cumberland attorney will represent Dr. H. C. Byrd in the court action.

Your home will be more charming if it reflects your good taste and personality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Is the place you live in as attractive as you can make it? House or apartment, does it truly represent your taste and personality?

The decor of your home bears your individual stamp, of course. But its atmosphere is not the total of material things. Such things, as so often illustrated in the story of the poor little rich girl, do not themselves result in beauty or happiness. The essential element in making a home attractive is the congeniality of its occupants.

Let your home reveal taste in your choice of books and paintings, music, and facilities for leisure-time activity. These need not be expensive. You can rent paintings or purchase good reproductions, as many of the Powers Girls do. They feel that surrounding themselves with beautiful things—things they like and enjoy — leads to greater happiness.

Family Manners

Establish good manners as a family pattern. To say "please" or "thank you" to a member of the family is no less important than when speaking to a comparative stranger. Being courteous and pleasant is the way of a charming woman at all times, not "on occasion."

Be gracious to your family. Respect their likes and wishes, just as you'd like husband, children (or roomate) to be considerate of you. The effect of a gentle word or a special act of kindness is amazing.

Make the warmth of your hospitality genuine. If entertaining is an obligation rather than a pleasure, it's time to re-evaluate your outlook as a hostess. One of the most gracious hostesses I know recently confided that she used to regard a company dinner as a tiresome production. Now she has learned to enjoy her guests by considering their presence a privilege, not a responsibility.

True Measure

Home can be a place to be endured when there's no other place to go . . . or a place that is enjoyed by all because you have made it comfortable and attractive.

Keep your home polished and shining as a way of displaying your pride in it. A few specks of dust won't alarm anyone, but a slovenly over-all look will have disheartening effect on you and on every other member of your family.

Realize that your home is you! Making it picture you at your best requires effort, but effort so worthwhile that it can't be measured in cents or minutes. It is measured, more importantly, in happiness.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time—uncertainty — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed return envelope, for a copy of the booklet, YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

Football Rules Clinic Scheduled Here For August 23

Illinois School Executive Will Attend Session

Milton F. Sprunger To Lead Discussions At 4th Annual Meet

Milton F. Sprunger, assistant executive secretary of the Illinois High School Athletic League, with headquarters in Chicago, will be the consultant and discussion leader at the fourth annual Football Rules clinic to be held under the auspices of the Allegany County Board of Education on Monday, August 23.

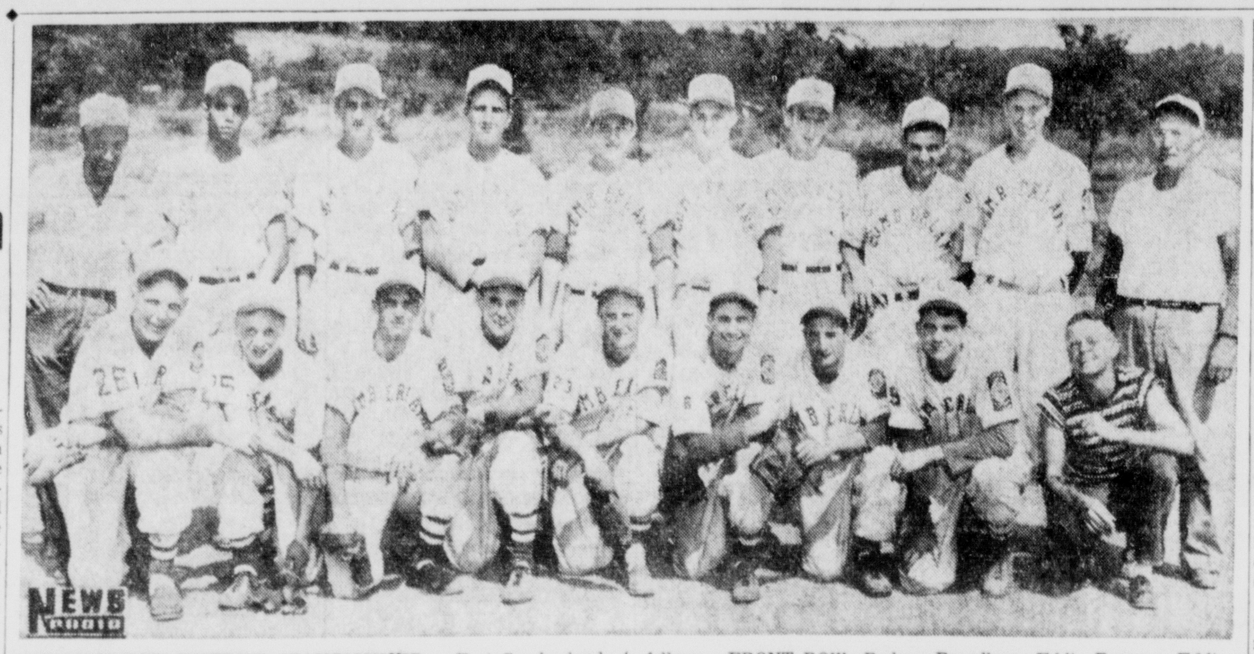

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Arthur G. Ramey, director of athletics for the Allegany County Board of Education, who made arrangements for Sprunger's appearance here at the convention of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations held in June at North Rim, Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Sprunger is Illinois' representative on the football rules committee of the National Federation and in recent years has served on the editorial staff of the football rules committee. Sprunger, Leslie Ansorge, of Wisconsin, and Kermit Anderson of Minnesota, led the rules discussion at the recent session of the federation in Arizona.

Before coming to Cumberland, Sprunger will conduct clinics at Indianapolis and Jackson's Mill, W. Va., where the annual grid meeting of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association will be held on Sunday, August 22. Ramey stated that an effort will be made to have William R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the West Virginia Association, accompany Sprunger to Cumberland.

The local clinic to be held at the Board of Education Building, 108 Washington Street, will be divided into morning and afternoon sessions at 9:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. and all coaches and officials of the tri-state area are cordially invited to attend.

Robinson, Snider Clout Home Runs

BROOKLYN, July 27 (AP)—The onrushing Brooklyn Dodgers won their sixth game in their last seven starts today, downing Chicago 7-6 with the help of homers by Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider.

Pending the result of tonight's St. Louis-New York game, the Dodgers trailed the league-leading Giants by only 2½ games.

Chicago didn't get a hit until there were two out in the fifth, but they knocked out Don Newcombe to score four runs in that inning and made the Dodgers hustle right down to the wire. At one point, big Newcombe had a 6-0 lead.

Gene Baker hit his 12th home run with a man on in the big inning and Hank Sauer slammed his 29th with the bases empty in the sixth off reliefer Bob Milliken.

Brooklyn ripped into Warren Hacker for a run in the second and flattened the Cubs' righthander with a big five in the third during which Robinson hit his 10th homer with a man on base. Snider's 25th came off Bill Tremel in the seventh, the run that actually provided the winning margin after the Cubs rallied for one in the eighth.

There is a reason more and more people prefer Gordon's gin. For Gordon's alone gives your gin drinks the distinct advantages of high (94.4) proof and exclusive Liqueur Quality. Arthur H. Clyde Dies In Canada

Coached Morgantown High Teams 32 Years

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 27 (AP)—Arthur H. Clyde, coach and athletic director of Morgantown High School since 1922, died last midnight at a Canadian hospital where he had been seriously ill for more than three weeks.

He was 64. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Clyde was on an annual fishing trip with his wife when his appendix ruptured, gangrene set in and he developed pneumonia.

Born in Ohio, Clyde was graduated from Geneva College and began his coaching career at Cameron, Marshall County, in 1915.

After a hitch in the Navy, he coached successively at Williamstown, Wood County; McKeesport, Pa., and Matoka, Mercer County, with a brief break to enter the insurance business.

In 32 years at Morgantown, he produced a state championship track team, two undefeated football teams and three basketball teams which reached semi-finals of the state tournament.

Only last week, Morgantown Principal Scott Davis named Jack Roberts as acting coach and athletic director. Roberts has been Clyde's assistant for more than 15 years. He was to have served until Clyde returned to the job.

CCC Men Golfers Visit Johnstown

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will play the North Fork Country Club linksmen today at 1 p. m., at Johnstown, Pa.

It will be the fifth match of the season for the C.C.C. team which has won three and lost one.

North Fork is slated to play here Wednesday, August 25.

Players who have not signed up for the Johnstown trip and still desire to participate are requested to contact the golf shop this morning.

"Red" Patterson Quits Yankees

NEW YORK, July 27 (INS) — Arthur "Red" Patterson, public relations director for the New York Yankees, resigned today because of what he termed "a clash of personalities with General Manager George Weiss."

Patterson said his resignation is effective Jan. 1, but that he will be on leave of absence until that date.

Steelers Sign Butler, Seven Go To Camp

PITTSBURGH, July 27 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today signed their veteran end, Jack Butler, to a 1954 contract.

Steeler quarterback Pat Brady agreed with the club on the terms of a new contract but has not yet signed. He is at home in Reno, Nev.

Meanwhile, seven Steelers—all quarterbacks or centers—left today with Head Coach Joe Bach and his assistant, Gene Ronzani, for training camp at St. Bonaventure University in Olean, N.Y. The rest of the team will report to camp Sunday.

Penn Fills Grid Card

PHILADELPHIA, July 27 (AP) — The University of Pennsylvania today added William and Mary and George Washington University to its 1954 football schedule replacing Washington and Lee, which gave up the sport.

Both teams will meet the Quakers on Franklin Field. George Washington fills the Oct. 16 date left vacant by W&L's withdrawal while William and Mary comes here Oct. 2, previously an open date.

Florida Baseball League Collapses

MIAMI, Fla., July 27 (INS) — The Florida International League collapsed like a pup tent in a hurricane tonight when St. Petersburg joined the Tallahassee Rebels and the West Palm Beach Indians in quitting the four-team Class B loop.

The Saint's action came after minor league president George Trautman announced that the faltering circuit could stay alive as a two-team league until August 6.

Under Trautman's plan, the St. Petersburg Club and the Miami Flamingos would have played a "championship" series and the league would have folded on August 6.

Fain Undergoes Knee Operation

CHICAGO, July 27 (INS) — Chicago White Sox first baseman Ferris Fain underwent an operation today on his right knee for the third time in seven years.

Dr. John Claridge, club surgeon, who performed the operation, said there is a possibility that Fain will see no more action this season. He explained:

ain was injured June 27 when he crashed into Boston catcher Sam White during a close play at home plate. Fain first submitted to surgery on the knee in 1947 and again in 1948 while he was a member of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Market Climbs With Strong Help From Steels And Rails

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP) — The Stock Market rolled ahead today in almost all sectors with powerful help from the steels and railroads.

Steels were active and higher almost from the beginning. After the close, U. S. Steel reported second quarter earnings equal to $1.63 a share as compared with $1.89 a year ago, but in the first quarter this year profits were $1.48. The usual 75-cent dividend was declared. It was the day's most active issue on 47,600 shares.

Bethlehem Steel, which gives its report on profits and dividends Thursday, raced ahead 3 points at 77⅝. Other steels were fractionally higher.

Stepping ahead with the steels and rails were the chemicals, oils, airlines, coppers, electrical equipments, uranium producers, aircrafts, machine tools, tobaccos, mail order and merchandising shares, and building materials. The motors were neglected along with radio-televisions, utilities, and a big group of low-priced stocks.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.20 at a new high of $178.80, railroads were ahead $1.10 at a new high of $98.80, and the utilities held unchanged.

Soviet Editors Seek Visas To Visit U. S.

MOSCOW, July 27 (AP) — Twelve editors of Soviet student publications have asked the U.S. Embassy for visas to go to the United States to study university life. Their proposed visit would reciprocate a tour in the Soviet Union last winter by a group of American student editors.

The U.S. Embassy said it had asked the Soviet Foreign Office for more information on the proposed visit, but meanwhile had forwarded all available information to Washington. It added that several of the editors were in their 30's and others in their late 20's. All are men.

Terps-Missouri Football Game To Be Telecast

Thanksgiving Tilt Among 15 Selected

NEW YORK, July 27 (INS) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the American Broadcasting Company announced today a 39-weekend partnership for telecasting winter and spring sports events as well as at least 15 selected football games.

A grid schedule, released officially for the first time today, calls for 12 Saturday programs between Sept. 18 and Dec. 4. The Oct. 23 program will include three "perimental" regional telecasts instead of one nationally-presented game.

The Maryland-Missouri game at College Park is listed for Thanksgiving day showing with a possibility that other contests will be added regionally that day.

In compliance with NCAA regulations, no team appears on the schedule more than once, and each of the eight NCAA districts is represented.

Robert H. O'Brien, executive vice president of ABC, said the network hopes to announce a sponsor for the grid series "by the end of this week." The sponsorship tab is expected to exceed the $1,300,000 cost of last year's program.

O'Brien said the network will present 26 miscellaneous Saturday afternoon collegiate events after the football season, including basketball, track, wrestling, gymnastics and possibly the Dartmouth winter carnival.

The complete football schedule: Sept. 18, Oklahoma at California; Sept. 25, Michigan State at Iowa; Oct. 2, Illinois at Stanford; Oct. 9, Rice at Wisconsin; Oct. 16, Oregon vs. Southern California at Portland; Oct. 23, Northwestern at Pittsburgh, Boston U. at Holy Cross, Montana at Brigham Young; Oct. 30, Penn State at Penn.

Nov. 6, Texas at Baylor; Nov. 13, Alabama at Georgia Tech.; Nov. 20, Michigan at Ohio State; Nov. 25, Missouri at Maryland; Nov. 27, Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia; Dec. 4, Notre Dame at Southern Methodist.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, July 27 (INS) — A major league bullpen catcher usually is as anonymous as the No. 6 man in a college crew.

If you doubt this, just try to name the man in the Cleveland bullpen. To save you embarrassment we hasten to tell you he is Bill Lobe who has been connected with the Indian organization in one way or another for 26 years.

Bill's hands are not much tougher than a rhinoceros' hide so Al Lopez, the Indians' smart little manager, was greatly surprised when Bill called for a big sponge to put in his mitt while warming up Bob Feller the other day.

"What's the matter Bill, getting soft?" Al kidded.

"No," said Bill, "But Bob is really firing bullets today. He's faster than I've seen him in two or three years."

We asked Bill if Feller was as fast as he once was and Bill replied, "No. I wouldn't go so far as to say that because he used to be about the fastest pitcher who ever threw a ball.

"I discovered late last year that all Bob needed to be about as effective as ever was a little more rest between assignments," said Al.

"So this year I've been giving him a little more time between starts and he's been terrific. He won seven in a row for us and every one of them was a beautifully pitched game. He's still plenty pitcher and if you don't think so just ask the hitters around our league."

Al expects Bob to play a major part in the Indians' drive for the pennant which, he affirms, may not be settled until the last day of the season.

"It's going to be a dog fight all the way," he said, "between the Yanks, White Sox and Us."

Al declares he is going to keep Al Rosen on third base. "He was never happy on first base," Al declared. "So I'll go along with Vic Wertz there. Vic handles himself pretty well around the bag."

He attributes no little part of the club's success to the work of his rookie left hander, Don Mossi, and his rookie catcher, Hal Naragon, and "e had plenty of kind words for the veteran Hal Newhouser.

Al scoffs at the idea of the Indians' folding up. "We never have folded," he said. "We've played good ball every yea right down to the finish but the Yanks also were finishing strong. This year we feel we are stronger and we've got a real good chance to win.

"Good ball clubs don't fold. All the boys are pros and they're going all out to get a fat slice of that world series melon. No, if we win it won't be because the Yanks or White Sox folded. It will be because we're the better ball club."

Cleveland Beats Bosox, 6-3; Yankees And Giants Lose

Virgil Trucks Scores Shutout Over New York

Beats Champions, 4-0; Cardinals Hand Giants Sixth Loss In Row, 7-4

CHICAGO, July 27 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox were a smashing success tonight in their opening bid to sweep a three-game series from the New York Yankees, turning back the New Yorkers 4-0 as Virgil Trucks fireballed a five-hitter for his fourth shutout of the season.

The largest crowd of the season and the third largest in White Sox history, 53,607, poured into Comiskey Park to watch the Sox make good on the first part of their professed aim to send the defending champions away from Chicago without a win.

Trucks, whose powerful arm delivers his famed fastball with as much speed as ever, sailed to his 14th victory of the season with a minimum of trouble.

Irv Noren, the American League's leading batter, was the only Yankee who enjoyed any real success against Trucks. Noren hit safely three times.

Cards Top Giants

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals inflicted the sixth straight loss upon the slump-ridden New York Giants tonight, pounding out a 7-4 victory to trim the Giants' first place lead over Brooklyn to two games.

Held scoreless through the first five innings, the Cardinals caught up with Jim Hearn in the sixth and continued their assault on Ruben Gomez, scoring four times in the last two innings to win an uphill battle.

Stan Musial featured the sixth inning outburst, blasting his 28th home run off Hearn with two mates aboard to put his team in front 3-2. After Dusty Rhodes had brought the Giants even in their half of the sixth with his fifth four-bagger of the year, the Cards went ahead to stay in their eighth when Wally Moon hit his 10th circuit of the season.

Chick Harbert Tops Burkemo For PGA Title

Michigan Pro Beats Defending Champ In 36-Hole Final, 4-3

ST. PAUL, July 27 (AP) — Chick Harbert's long and disheartening quest for the PGA Golf Championship ended today when the barrel-chested Northville, Mich., pro shook off an atrocious start to whip defending champion Walter Burkemo, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole finals at the Keller course.

The 39-year-old, prematurely-graying Harbert, wild as a scattergun but pirate bold, won as perhaps no other champion ever won in a big-time event. After losing three of the first four holes, he played the next 29 in 8 under par.

He hit into a cornfield, under a fir tree, onto an asphalt road, in a dozen traps and more rough than fairway, yet sheer bull strength and refusal to quit carried him past a tiring Burkemo, showing the strain of the week-long ordeal.

It was the ninth PGA bid for Harbert, who never before got farther than the finals which he reached twice—in 1947 and 1952. It was the third finals in four years for Burkemo, beaten by Sam Snead at Oakmont in 1951.

Virgil Marble Belts Three Home Runs In Dapper Dan Contest

Virgil Marple, first sacker, smashed three home runs as the Indians trounced the Athletics in a Dapper Dan Little League game yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 17-6.

Ansel Shircliffe also had three hits for Manager "Whip" Kreitzburg's aggregation. The losers garnered 13 hits, six of which were shared by Davis and Clark.

Mike Firle fanned eight Athletics and made his record 4-0 for the season.

Patsy Algieri's Giants captured a slugfest affair from the Yankees at Penn Avenue Field, 10 to 7. The Giants' infield completed two double plays and Jack Weltman Schindler headed the attack with three hits each. Jack had four of the winners' 12 hits. Robinson and Schindler collected three hits each for the Yankees.

Reliefer Gary Henry pitched one-hit ,shutout ball and fanned eight as the Phillies took the Cardinals into camp, 7 to 5. Donald Nave smacked a homer and single and batted in four runs, including the winning tally with a sacrifice fly. Henry had two hits as did Donnie Reynolds of the Cardinals. The scores:

Jim Roby's sacrifice fly and Jim Angellatta's single through short produced two runs in the top of the eighth inning and gave the Loyal Order of Moose a 4-2 decision over the B.P.O. Elks in a Rocking Chair Softball League overtime battle yesterday at Allegany Field.

The victory moved the Moose within a half game of the first place Outdoor Club which was idle yesterday.

"Bud" Young led off the eighth with a single and advanced to third on John Harbaugh's base wallop. Roby scored Young with what proved to be the winning run with a long fly to right field and Harbaugh raced to third after the catch. The latter scored the insurance tally on Angellatta's bingle.

The Elks threatened in their half of the eighth but with first and second occupied George Geatz, Frank Williams and Jim Angellatta engineered a double play that ended the contest.

George Geatz of the Moose and Jim Gaffney of the Elks smacked a double and single each. The win was Roby's 8th against five losses. Gaffney has won three and lost four.

Al Sheetz notched his third shutout triumph of the season as the Eagles handed the K. of C. their 17th straight setback of the campaign at Stitcher Field, 2-0. Sheetz, who now owns a 9-2 record, yielded three hits, singles by Shaffer and Zembower and Steiner's two-bagger, and struck out 11. Bill Welsh collected two of the Eagles' eight hits while Sheetz and Bill Dean rapped two-baggers.

Sheetz's double and an infield error netted the Eagles' first run in the 4th. Andy Lewis singled home Bill Welsh with the final marker in the 6th.

Police Release Man Arrested By Mistake

Welsh Was Jailed As Robbery Suspect

George McKinley Welsh, who was scheduled to appear tomorrow in Circuit Court on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, was released from the County Jail yesterday afternoon when it was discovered that his arrest was a case of mistaken identity.

Welsh was arrested here Saturday at the request of Pennsylvania authorities and was held for extradition to Pittsburgh. He was taken into custody Saturday at the home of a sister on Gay Street, by City Detective Leo E. P. Law and State Troopers Robert Wolford and L. C. Clark.

The petition and order for a habeas corpus writ was filed Monday by Welsh's attorney, Albert A. Doub, and trial was set for tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Court Proceedings Dropped

As it developed, the Welsh being held in the County Jail was older (26) than the man being sought by Pittsburgh police. Also, the middle names of the two men didn't jibe.

Another discrepancy was that the Welsh released yesterday was on a penal farm when the other Welsh was in a boy's training school.

The George Welsh wanted by Pittsburgh police is one of a four-member gang allegedly involved in the holdup of a Pennsylvania Super Market which netted nearly $7,000.

The Welsh who was released here yesterday was exonerated of all blame in the robbery and court proceedings were dismissed by his attorney.

Meanwhile, three of the four suspects have been picked up by authorities, while the still-wanted Welsh remains at large.

Mrs. Gloria Payne of Pittsburgh, who is Welsh's sister, and a youth formerly employed at the market are under arrest and are charged with being accessories to the crime.

Welsh Heavily Armed

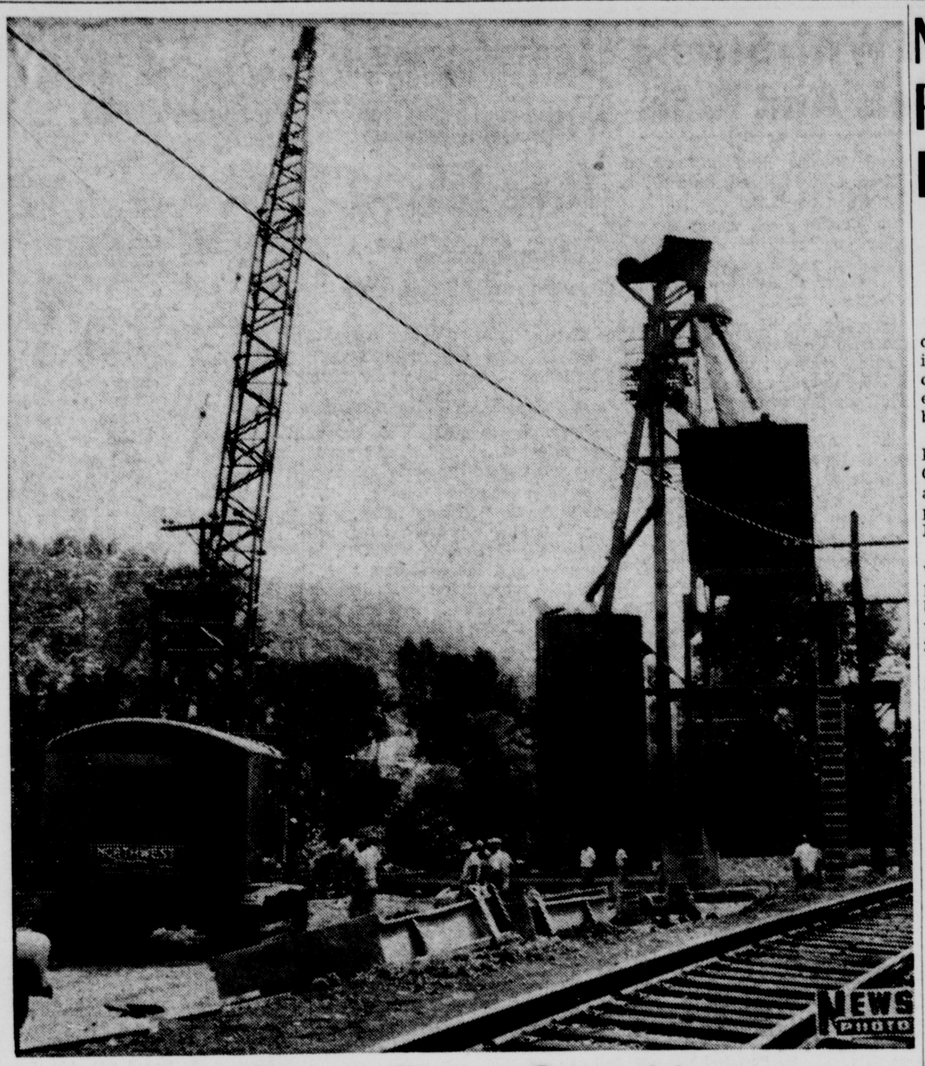

The fourth suspect, Roy Lee Souders, 19, of Baltimore, was picked up several days ago in Maryland and was returned to Pittsburgh for prosecution. He was apprehended last Wednesday by Baltimore authorities.

According to police, Welsh and Souders are believed to be the men who pistol-whipped Theodore Byron, 50, manager of the Thorofare Market, last Saturday and made off with $6,884.

Acting on a tip, detectives picked up Mrs. Payne and John McConn, 19, of Mt. Oliver, Pa., the former market employe.

Souders made a brief appearance in Morals Court in Pittsburgh Friday, following his return there, and is being held for further investigation.

Welsh is believed to be extremely dangerous and is described by Pennsylvania police as being heavily armed.

Batch Plant Goes Up

Foresters Plan Study Program Of Pine Weevil

Other Insects To Be Checked

Thomas McIntyre, from the northeastern forest experiment station, Upper Darby, Pa., is in Allegany County today conferring with William H. Johnson, district forester, to set up a study program of the white pine weevil.

The two men will tour sections of area forests and examine pine trees for the insect, which retards the growth of trees and is responsible for poor quality lumber.

A study of the insect is being set up in both Allegany and Garrett counties and is included in a region-wide study in northeastern states.

McIntyre was in Garrett County yesterday and discussed the plan with Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester at Oakland.

When the study is completed, forestry officials hope to have a better understanding of the control of the insect. However, methods of combatting the weevil, Johnson added, are now in effect.

While in Garrett County, the foresters also will probe into the damage caused by the fall canker worm, which attacks all oak trees and defoliates them during the spring months.

Johnson and McIntyre will also check on the damage caused by the "walking stick," which has been attacking all types of trees with the exception of pine. A large number of trees were affected on the west side of Polish Mountain.

Fire, Police Dance Slated On October 1

Members of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association are completing plans for their 32d annual dance, which will be held Friday, October 1, at Clarysville Inn, from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Music for the semi-formal affair will be by the Midnighters Orchestra. Co-chairmen in charge of arrangements are Captain Vincent H. Wegman and John J. Morrissey, chauffer at Central Fire Station.

The sale of advertisements in the program is under way and Cumberland merchants will be solicited beginning this week for space in the publication.

The ticket committee headed by Assistant Fire Chief Robert C. Long, Central Station, includes Captain Thomas Lindner, John J. Carney, chauffeur at East Side Station, and Pipeman James Hunter of Central.

Also on the committee will be Officers Warren Brehm, Paul Penrod and several other policemen. Tickets for the dance will soon go on sale and merchants, business and professional men will be solicited beginning August 2.

Batching Plant For Flood Wall Near Completion

Company To Pour Concrete In Two Weeks

The Wright Contracting Company of Columbus, Ga., expects to begin pouring concrete for the 18-foot flood wall on the West Side sometime in the second week of August, Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the flood project, said last night.

Working to complete the batching plant along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the intersection of Kelly Boulevard and Water Street, the construction concern hopes to have the plant in operation within the next two weeks so concrete work on the wall can begin.

The batching plant, where dry ingredients for the concrete are mixed, has been erected with the exception of the weigher, or recording device section which contains weighing scales.

The plant has a silo-like storage bin for excess concrete mixtures which are not being used, and huge compartment bins for the mixtures of sand, crushed stone and cement. It is placed beside the railroad tracks where the gravel and sand can be shipped in by rail. When the weighing scales are erected the plant will be ready for operation.

Dexter said last night the recording device section has been shipped and the construction company officials expect it to arrive very shortly.

After the dry ingredients of the concrete mixture are mixed and tested at the batching plant they are dumped in a truck and hauled to the site where the pouring is being done. There, water is mixed to make the concrete.

The work of pouring the concrete in the flood wall begins at the lower end of the project near the Moose home on Beall Street. Steel sheeting already has been placed along with bric-brac to form the foundation of the wall.

Meanwhile, the E. J. Albrecht Company, which built the West Side dam across the Potomac River, has completed work on the strengthening of one of the two huge piers beneath the Western Maryland Railway bridge spanning the river. Sheeting is now being placed around the second pier and the strengthening work is expected to be completed within the next week, Dexter added.

Investigating officer is Pfc. Adam Kachurik, of the Pennsylvania State Police. Details of the accident and the extent of injuries were unavailable late last night.

The minister and his wife were riding in one of the cars which collided with the one in which Mrs. Miller was traveling, attaches said.

New Industry Plan Revealed By Local Man

Experimental Work Already Under Way

A new corporation which may develop into a new local industry is being formed here, it was disclosed yesterday, and considerable experimental work has already been started.

The new enterprise is to be known as the American Compost Corporation, with Addison Rinker as president, S. Russ Minter, vice president, and Mrs. Florence B. Minter, secretary-treasurer.

For several years, Rinker, a well-known commercial photographer and part time farmer, has been interested in compost development and compost or organic farming.

The idea, he explains is not original, but has been followed in one form or another for decades, and organic fertilization of soil has always been nature's way of promoting growth of all vegetation.

In recent years, however, science has discovered a method which will speed up decomposition of all organic matter such as grass clippings, garbage, chicken feathers, leaves, and countless other similar waste materials.

Speeds Up Process

Normally, it is explained, nature takes two or more years to break down leaves and other organic matter to a point where it becomes topsoil, or fertilizer for old soil. Under the modern and scientific approach, Rinker said, it is now possible to break compost piles down to pure, seed-free and bacteria-free topsoil and natural fertilizer in less than 90 days.

He said various methods have been tried which will put all of the needed elements back into land, by chemical or other means. However, science has merely stepped in to speed up to an industrial production basis what nature takes years to do.

The new company will operate on a farm owned by Rinker in the Williams Road area. A large grinder and several trucks have been purchased, and various types of waste materials are being built into special compost piles to get the industry started.

Experiments Continue

Minter, who is a local architect, stated he has made a study of the idea and learned that a number of cities have such plants. Many cities have been able to simplify their tasks of garbage removal and disposal by turning over their garbage and refuse to plants of this type.

The process, Rinker declared, produces no odor, and chemicals and natural action which takes place in the process is odorless and will not harbor rats or flies. It is so constructed and handled that even buzzards won't touch it.

Earthworms, which aerate and activate the soil, thrive in it. It retains and helps rebuild the binding quality of good soil. It retains moisture.

Some materials, it has been found in manufacturing the compost, act differently in varied sections of the country. Therefore the operators are now experimenting to find the best and proper combinations and proportions here. They have already produced and used to advantage a considerable quantity of compost.

Control Is Necessary

The procedure is to collect desirable waste materials, grind and pulverize this material to a proper size, mix various materials together, pile it in various spaced piles, and add a catalytic agent which starts the process.

Heat is generated in the compost piles very rapidly, and temperatures are watched and controlled carefully so there is no burning.

The heat discourages rats and vermin, destroys the seeds and harmful bacteria, and produces the proper environment for nature to work its fastest and best.

The exact temperature, Minter and Rinker explained, is important. Aeration and moisture are also important. And as the process is developed, production will be increased.

Minter and Rinker hope the new industry can be developed to a point where at least 50 men can be employed.

Secures Apartment Building Permit

Beauty Expert

Felix Foote Sr. of Lonaconing is shown in his "garden" at Central Elementary School, which he transformed from a bare spot of hard earth to a beautiful bed of flowers, containing 500 plants of 21 different varieties. Foote, a former miner, is custodian of the Lonaconing school and six years ago sought to do something about beautifying the grounds around the school.

Custodian Turns Gardener To Beautify School Grounds

By TED TROXELL
News Staff Writer

What for many years was nothing more than a trampled-down patch of bare ground has been transformed into a garden spot of grass and flowers through the untiring efforts of Felix Foote Sr., who resides on Watercliffe Street in Lonaconing.

Foote, who was employed as a miner by the Consolidated Coal Company for 46 years, has worked as a janitor at Central Elementary School (formerly Central High School) since January 14, 1945, and it is here that his beautification project has been put into use.

Central High School was built in 1911, but until 1948, when Foote first conceived of the idea of "prettying up" the grounds, the area in front of the school was a virtual dust bowl, used mainly by the students as a short cut to the main entrance of the building.

Foote realized that the task of improving the appearance of the grounds surrounding the school would be a long and arduous one, but with the help of some of the school's student manpower, the area was refilled with topsoil, resodded and planted with clover and hayseed.

Damp cloths were then placed over the ground to nurse the newly-planted area through its first stages.

After three years, Foote's dreams became reality as the area became Botanical Gardens in miniature. Today, there are about 500 plants and 21 varieties of flowers in Foote's garden.

The plants were donated by different citizens of Lonaconing, including Alice McCormick, William Duckworth, Phillips Florists, and the proud gardener himself.

One of the reasons for the success of Foote's project was the cooperation of the students themselves. They were cooperative about staying off the lawn.

Foote can be seen each morning at the garden watering it and caring for it. He explained that since the garden area is situated on the foundation of the school building, it is necessary to water it regularly, as drying out occurs more rapidly than it would under normal conditions.

At the present time, the prize plants in Foote's garden are the improved coxcomb, a large, red bushy plant, and a bed of lilies, which is just beginning to reach its prettiest stage.

Chamber Elects Ten Directors

Ballots were counted last night in the Chamber's office in the Liberty Trust Building under the supervision of the election judges, Lynn C. Lashley, chairman, C. S. Catherman Jr., and A. T. Brust Jr.

Elected to three-year terms from a list of 21 nominees were the following members, named alphabetically:

James Alfred Avirett, Robert E. Barnard Jr., William H. Buchholtz, A. W. Conley, Lynn C. Lashley, Marcus A. Naughton, Albert S. Paye, Paul D. Pickens, George A. Schwarzenbach and Carl F. Schmutz.

The 30-member board, including the newly-elected directors, will meet to organize and elect officers of the Chamber August 5 at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber offices.

Edmund S. Burke is retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hearings Set Today For Two Juveniles

Two local youths will be given hearings this morning in Juvenile Court in separate theft cases.

A 16-year-old boy arrested early yesterday in connection with the theft of a girl's bicycle and a 15-year-old boy who was taken into custody on Monday in the theft of $23 from the wallet of Mrs. William Miles, 222 Glenn Street, will be given a hearing, according to Lt. James E. Van of the City Police Detective Bureau.

Three Area Youths Join U. S. Navy

Three men enlisted at the local Navy recruiting station and have been sent to Bainbridge to begin boot training, according to Chief Edward J. Carey, local recruiter.

Robert Thomas Arbogast, 17, Bedford Road, enlisted for a minority period. Charles Thomas Miller, 19, of 81 Paxton Street, Piedmont, W. Va., and Homer Eugene Sampsell, 18, of 123 Humbird Street, enlisted for four years each.

National Guard Is Praised For Encampment Opening

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., July 27 (AP)—National Guard troops of the 29th Infantry Division won praise today for the start of their annual two-weeks summer encampment.

Col. William H. Spicer, director of training for the encampment, said that army inspectors had been impressed at the success of the motor movement of the citizen-soldiers from the states of Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia.

"The motor march was outstanding, in fact it was much better than I expected," Spicer said.

The fact that some 1,500 military vehicles had made the march, some of them from as far south as Norfolk, Va., without one serious accident or anyone being injured was a noteworthy achievement, he added.

During the first day of inspection, half of the division was given either superior or excellent rating, Spicer said.

Some 6,500 men arrived at this huge military reservation in the central Pennsylvania mountain area last Saturday and Sunday. They are commanded by Maj. Gen. Henry C. Evans, of Baltimore.

The entire 29th Division was adjudged excellent for the discipline and appearance of its personnel while the 192nd Tank Battalion from West Virginia was commended for its fine range operations on Monday.

County Receives $167,381 Refund On Income Taxes

Cumberland's Share Amounts To $47,597

The last installment on more than $167,000 of state income taxes came rolling back into Allegany County in the past week as the state finished redistributing big chunks of tax money paid by Marylanders during the last fiscal year.

Under the law, 34 per cent of the tax money paid by Maryland residents must be kicked back to the political subdivisions in which they reside.

Taxes paid by people who live outside any town are shared with the county in which they reside. In order to be eligible for a share of the take, a subdivision must levy local taxes high enough to produce revenue of at least a dollar per capita. Some smaller towns don't qualify, and therefore do not share in the redistribution.

In all, $167,381.57 of the income tax money came back to Allegany County. The county itself got the lion's share of this — $104,192.45. Cumberland got $47,597.79.

Baltimore City, where about half of all the people in Maryland reside, got $3,748,606.11, about 40 per cent of the total distributed, which came to $9,326,036.25.

Baltimore County ranked second with distribution of $1,529,077.28, and Montgomery County, its cities and towns, got $1,449,149.19.

The Allegany County breakdown:

Barton	$ 442.06
Cresaptown	357.30
Cumberland	47,597.79
Frostburg	7,729.58
Lonaconing	1,860.63
Luke	1,472.13
Midland	337.73
Westernport	3,391.90
Allegany County	104,192.45
Total	$167,381.57

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Six Years Of Sullivan

Ed Sullivan, who was elected least likely to succeed when he went on the air with "Toast of the Town," has not only survived but prospered for six long years now, which just goes to show how wrong people can be.

The other day Mr. Sullivan was asked his own explanation for his own hardihood in a medium which has gobbled up so many more talented people in a third that time. "Guts," said Mr. S. Sullivan has persistently gone and done what he thought ought to be done in spite of enormous pressures to do otherwise.

From the outset, people whose judgment he respected told him that a variety show would never go on TV and was as dead as vaudeville. He didn't believe it and statistics seem to prove he was right. He has always believed there is nothing too highbrow for a TV audience and is very proud of having landed the Sadlers Wells ballet on TV after a great deal of difficulty.

Sullivan likes his show to be unpredictable rather than running to format and he gives this great credit for contributing to Toast's success. His biographical shows of Oscar Hammerstein, Helen Hayes, Robert E. Sherwood and others were a complete break with tradition and very successful, not because of the great show business bits that were played on them but for an indefinable human quality they had.

The best example of this was during the Josh Logan story. There were tidbits from many of Logan's hits which include some of the greatest hits in theatrical history. Still, great as they were, the show was just a monotonous parade of success and Logan asked Sullivan if he could tell the story of his own mental breakdown and cure. This bit, told simply and badly by Logan, was the most memorable thing in the show and had some notable after-effects. A Supreme Court judge in Pennsylvania saw the show and reversed a lower court decision denying a mother of three children, who had once been mentally ill, the custody of her three children. Part of Logan's talk was incorporated into the decision. Later the head of Oklahoma's mental health program told Sullivan he had been unable to get funds out of the budget commission until the commissioners saw the Logan bit on television. Then the commission voted him $1,500,000.

There were other examples of the same thing. Helen Hayes told of a scene she played in "Victoria Regina" in which a workman shouts to the Queen: "Go it, old girl, you've done it well." She added that after a full and happy life she hoped people would say to her: "Go it, old girl, you've done it well." Broke the joint up. And the most fetching bit from the Oscar Hammerstein story was not any of the great array of famous singers, dancers and actors—but Oscar himself reciting the lyrics from his song "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Sullivan likes to bust formula by putting interesting people in new settings, getting them to do something they've never done before, and changing his show all around so the viewers never know what to expect. Once he placed a group of opera singers in evening dress rather than operatic costumes, put them in a booth at El Morocco where they chatted about arias—and then bust into them

Another time he had twenty top jockeys in dinner jackets and top hats in a song and dance number. Three top ball players sang "Take Me Out To the Ball Game." And Sugar Ray Robinson stopped the show by jumping rope to music like a ballet dancer. Some of these novelties come off, some don't. But they keep the audience off balance.

Every year, Sullivan says, TV gets more expensive and more difficult as the audience gets more and more hep. Entertainers he once got for $50 get $1,500—and some get $3,500. Occasionally Sullican looks at a kinescope of an old show he once thought was great—and shudders at how bad it is.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

WHY DID HE DO THAT?

ASKING yourself occasional questions is a component part of all good thinking during both the bidding and the play. Why did he do that? The answer to this can often tell you just what there is about the player's hand that impelled him to take the course he chose. If it is your partner who is concerned, and he had not made a lead of the suit you bid, maybe it could be because he had no cards of it.

	♠ K 8 ♥ 9 8 ♦ Q 8 4 3 ♣ K 10 9 8 2
♠ 10 5 4 ♥ A K ♦ K 10 9 6 5 ♣ Q 7 5	N W E S	♠ A Q 9 7 6 2 ♥ J 10 7 ♦ None ♣ A 6 4 3
	♠ J 3 ♥ Q 6 5 4 3 2 ♦ A J 7 2 ♣ J

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♥	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Dbl.

Bidding about like that came at a lot of tables in a duplicate game. To beat the heart sacrifice, not vulnerable, for enough points to top the makeable vulnerable 5-Spades — worth 150 in tricks plus 500 for vulnerable game bonus — required a four-trick set, producing 700 points.

One inept pair of defenders failed to do that. The spade 10 lead brought the K and A, the Q was scored, and East made the very bad lead of the spade 7, enabling South to ruff in dummy while discarding the club J. The heart 9 ran to the K, and West was not smart enough to reason why East had not returned a diamond, West's bid. So West led his club Q, which the K and A topped and South ruffed. The heart 6 drove out the A and the club 7 was led to the 10, the heart J ruffing and the Q over-ruffing. South then led the diamond 2 to the K, fifth and last defensive trick for down three, only 500 points, a losing score.

At another table, Col. Mark C. Fox, United States Air Force, Retired, a star engineer, sat East. After his second spade trick, he led the heart J, which was covered by the Q and A. West realized why a diamond had not been led, so led the 6 himself for the heart 7 to ruff. The club A was now cashed, and later West won with the diamond K and heart A to make a total of seven tricks. That put the contract down five for a score of 900, most any East-West pair garnered on the deal.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K J ♥ A 6 ♦ A K 7 5 4 ♣ J 10 9 8

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

What bidding would you expect, from good players, on this deal, which could be full of fireworks?

Market Climbs With Strong Help From Steels And Rails

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP) — The Stock Market rolled ahead today in almost all sectors with powerful help from the steels and railroads.

A string of excellent earnings reports and other corporate developments helped to keep trading lively.

Steels were active and higher almost from the beginning. After the close, U. S. Steel reported second quarter earnings equal to $1.63 a share as compared with $1.89 a year ago, but in the first quarter this year profits were $1.48. The usual 75-cent dividend was declared. It was the day's most active issue on 47,600 shares.

Bethlehem Steel, which gives its report on profits and dividends Thursday, raced ahead 3 points at 77⅝s. Other steels were fractionally higher.

Stepping ahead with the steels and rails were the chemicals, oils, airlines, coppers, electrical equipments, uranium producers, aircrafts, machine tools, tobaccos, mail order and merchandising shares, and building materials. The motors were neglected along with radio-televisions, utilities, and a big group of low-priced stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 80 cents at a new high of $132.20, the best since Oct. 22, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.20 at a new high of $178.80, railroads were ahead $1.10 at a new high of $98.80, and the utilities held unchanged.

Soviet Editors Seek Visas To Visit U. S.

MOSCOW, July 27 (AP) — Twelve editors of Soviet student publications have asked the U.S. Embassy for visas to go to the United States to study university life. Their proposed visit would reciprocate a tour in the Soviet Union last winter by a group of American student editors.

The U.S. Embassy said it had asked the Soviet Foreign Office for more information on the proposed visit, but meanwhile had forwarded all available information to Washington. It added that several of the editors were in their 30's and others in their late 20's. All are men.

Terps-Missouri Football Game To Be Telecast

Thanksgiving Tilt Among 15 Selected

NEW YORK, July 27 (INS) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the American Broadcasting Company announced today a 39-weekend partnership for telecasting winter and spring sports events as well as at least 15 selected football games.

A grid schedule, released officially for the first time today, calls for 12 Saturday programs between Sept. 18 and Dec. 4. The Oct. 23 program will include three "perimental" regional telecasts instead of one nationally-presented game.

The Maryland-Missouri game at College Park is listed for Thanksgiving day showing with a possibility that other contests will be added regionally that day.

In compliance with NCAA regulations, no team appears on the schedule more than once, and each of the eight NCAA districts is represented.

Robert H. O'Brien, executive vice president of ABC, said the network hopes to announce a sponsor for the grid series "by the end of this week." The sponsorship tab is expected to exceed the $1,300,000 cost of last year's program.

O'Brien said the network will present 26 miscellaneous Saturday afternoon collegiate events after the football season, including basketball, track, wrestling, gymnastics and possibly the Dartmouth winter carnival.

The complete football schedule: Sept. 18, Oklahoma at California; Sept. 25, Michigan State at Iowa; Oct. 2, Illinois at Stanford; Oct. 9, Rice at Wisconsin; Oct. 16, Oregon vs. Southern California at Portland; Oct. 23, Northwestern at Pittsburgh, Boston U. at Holy Cross, Montana at Brigham Young; Oct. 30, Penn State at Penn.

Nov. 6, Texas at Baylor; Nov. 13, Alabama at Georgia Tech.; Nov. 20, Michigan at Ohio State; Nov. 25, Missouri at Maryland; Nov. 27, Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia; Dec. 4, Notre Dame at Southern Methodist.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, July 27 (INS) — A major league bullpen catcher usually is as anonymous as the No. 6 man in a college crew.

If you doubt this, just try to name the man in the Cleveland bullpen. To save you embarrassment we hasten to tell you he is Bill Lobe who has been connected with the Indian organization in one way or another for 26 years.

Bill's hands are not much tougher than a rhinocerous' hide so Al Lopez, the Indians' smart little manager, was greatly surprised when Bill called for a big sponge to put in his mitt while warming up Bob Feller the other day.

"What's the matter Bill, getting soft?" Al kidded.

"No," said Bill. "But Bob is really firing bullets today. He's faster than I've seen him in two or three years."

We asked Bill if Feller was as fast as he once was and Bill replied. "No, I wouldn't go so far as to say that because he used to be about the fastest pitcher who ever threw a ball.

"But Bob's plenty fast still and he's cutting the corners with his curve and, of course, his control is better."

Lopez got many a laugh from tall tales which intimated that Feller was all washed up.

"I discovered late last year that all Bob needed to be about as effective as ever was a little more rest between assignments," said Al.

"So this year I've been giving him a little more time between starts and he's been terrific. He won seven in a row for us and every one of them was a beautifully pitched game. He's still plenty pitcher and if you don't think so just ask the hitters around our league."

Al expects Bob to play a major part in the Indians' drive for the pennant which, he affirms, may not be settled until the last day of the season.

"It's going to be a dog fight all the way," he said, "between the Yanks, White Sox and Us."

Al declares he is going to keep Al Rosen on third base. "He was never happy on first base," Al declared. "So I'll go along with Vic Wertz there. Vic handles himself pretty well around the bag."

He attributes no little part of the club's success to the work of his rookie left hander, Don Mossi, and his rookie catcher, Hal Naragon, and "e had plenty of kind words for the veteran Hal Newhouser.

Al scoffs at the idea of the Indians' folding up. "We never have folded," he said. "We've played good ball every yea right down to the finish but the Yanks also were finishing strong. This year we feel we are stronger and we've got a real good chance to win.

"Good ball clubs don't fold. All the boys are pros and they're going all out to get a fat slice of that world series melon. No, if we win it won't be because the Yanks or White Sox folded. It will be because we're the better ball club."

Police Release Man Arrested By Mistake

Welsh Was Jailed As Robbery Suspect

George McKinley Welsh, who was scheduled to appear tomorrow in Circuit Court on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, was released from the County Jail yesterday afternoon when it was discovered that his arrest was a case of mistaken identity.

Welsh was arrested here Saturday at the request of Pennsylvania authorities and was held for extradition to Pittsburgh. He was taken into custody Saturday at the home of a sister on Gay Street, by City Detective Leo E. P. Law and State Troopers Robert Wolford and L. C. Clark.

The petition and order for a habeas corpus writ was filed Monday by Welsh's attorney, Albert A. Doub, and trial was set for tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Court Proceedings Dropped

As it developed, the Welsh being held in the County Jail was older (26) than the man being sought by Pittsburgh police. Also, the middle names of the two men didn't jibe.

Another discrepancy was that the Welsh released yesterday was on a penal farm when the other Welsh was in a boy's training school.

The George Welsh wanted by Pittsburgh police is one of a four-member gang allegedly involved in the holdup of a Pennsylvania Super Market which netted nearly $7,000.

The Welsh who was released here yesterday was exonerated of all blame in the robbery and court proceedings were dismissed by his attorney.

Meanwhile, three of the four suspects have been picked up by authorities, while the still-wanted Welsh remains at large.

Mrs. Gloria Payne of Pittsburgh, who is Welsh's sister, and a youth formerly employed at the market are under arrest and are charged with being accessories to the crime.

Welsh Heavily Armed

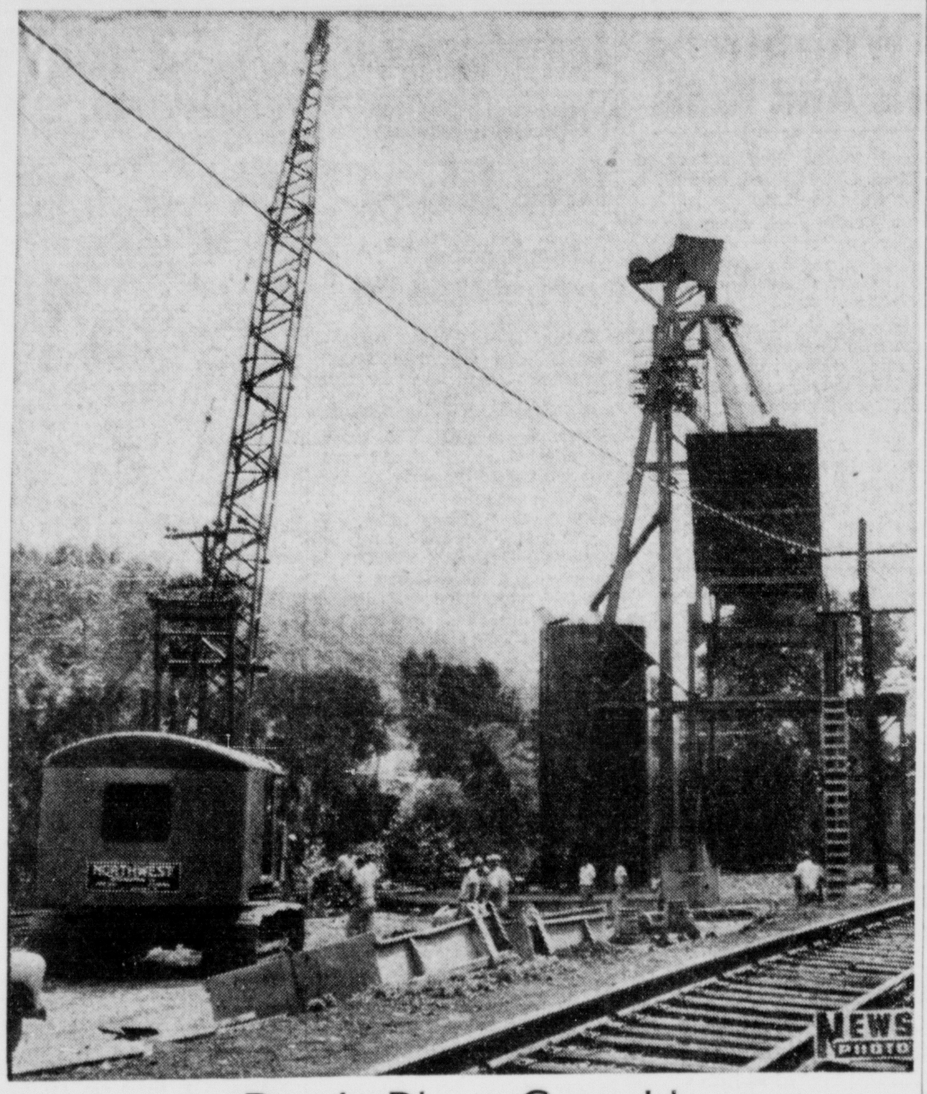

The fourth suspect, Roy Lee Souders, 19, of Baltimore, was picked up several days ago in Maryland and was returned to Pittsburgh for prosecution. He was apprehended last Wednesday by Baltimore authorities.

According to police, Welsh and Souders are believed to be the men who pistol-whipped Theodore Byron, 50, manager of the Thorofare Market, last Saturday and made off with $6,884.

Acting on a tip, detectives picked up Mrs. Payne and John McConn, 19, of Mt. Oliver, Pa., the former market employe.

Souders made a brief appearance in Morals Court in Pittsburgh Friday, following his return there, and is being held for further investigation.

Batch Plant Goes Up

Foresters Plan Study Program Of Pine Weevil

Other Insects To Be Checked

Thomas McIntyre, from the northeastern forest experiment station, Upper Darby, Pa., is in Allegany County today conferring with William H. Johnson, district forester, to set up a study program of the white pine weevil.

The two men will tour sections of area forests and examine pine trees for the insect, which retards the growth of trees and is responsible for poor quality lumber.

Pine tree weevils, Johnson pointed out, burrow into the tree after they are hatched.

A study of the insect is being set up in both Allegany and Garrett counties and is included in a region-wide study in northeastern states.

McIntyre was in Garrett County yesterday and discussed the plan with Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester at Oakland.

When the study is completed, forestry officials hope to have a better understanding of the control of the insect. However, methods of combatting the weevil, Johnson added, are now in effect.

While in Garrett County, the foresters also will probe into the damage caused by the fall canker worm, which attacks all oak trees and defoliates them during the spring months.

Johnson and McIntyre will also check on the damage caused by the "walking stick," which has been attacking all types of trees with the exception of pine. A large number of trees were affected on the west side of Polish Mountain.

The insects usually make their appearance in the forests during July and August, Johnson said.

Batching Plant For Flood Wall Near Completion

Company To Pour Concrete In Two Weeks

The Wright Contracting Company of Columbus, Ga., expects to begin pouring concrete for the 18-foot flood wall on the West Side sometime in the second week of August, Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the flood project, said last night.

Working to complete the batching plant along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the intersection of Kelly Boulevard and Water Street, the construction concern hopes to have the plant in operation within the next two weeks so concrete work on the wall can begin.

The batching plant, where dry ingredients for the concrete are mixed, has been erected with the exception of the weigher, or recording device section which contains weighing scales.

The plant has a silo-like storage bin for excess concrete mixtures which are not being used, and huge compartment bins for the mixtures of sand, crushed stone and cement. It is placed beside the railroad tracks where the gravel and sand can be shipped in by rail. When the weighing scales are erected the plant will be ready for operation.

Dexter said last night the recording device section has been shipped and the construction company officials expect it to arrive very shortly.

After the dry ingredients of the concrete mixture are mixed and tested at the batching plant they are dumped in a truck and hauled to the site where the pouring is being done. There, water is mixed to make the concrete.

The work of pouring the concrete in the flood wall begins at the lower end of the project near the Moose home on Beall Street. Steel sheeting already has been placed along with bric-brac to form the foundation of the wall.

Meanwhile, the E. J. Albrecht Company, which built the West Side dam across the Potomac River, has completed work on the strengthening of one of the two huge piers beneath the Western Maryland Railway bridge spanning the river. Sheeting is now being placed around the second pier and the strengthening work is expected to be completed within the next week, Dexter added.

New Industry Plan Revealed By Local Man

Experimental Work Already Under Way

A new corporation which may develop into a new local industry is being formed here, it was disclosed yesterday, and considerable experimental work has already been started.

The new enterprise is to be known as the American Compost Corporation, with Addison Rinker as president, S. Russ Minter, vice president, and Mrs. Florence B. Minter, secretary-treasurer.

For several years, Rinker, a well-known commercial photographer and part time farmer, has been interested in compost development and compost or organic farming.

The idea, he explains is not original, but has been followed in one form or another for decades, and organic fertilization of soil has always been nature's way of promoting growth of all vegetation.

In recent years, however, science has discovered a method which will speed up decomposition of all organic matter such as grass clippings, garbage, chicken feathers, leaves, and countless other similar waste materials.

Speeds Up Process

Normally, it is explained, nature takes two or more years to break down leaves and other organic matter to a point where it becomes topsoil, or fertilizer for old soil. Under the modern and scientific approach, Rinker said, it is now possible to break compost piles down to pure, seed-free and bacteria-free topsoil and natural fertilizer in less than 90 days.

He said various methods have been tried which will put all of the needed elements back into land, by chemical or other means. However, science has merely stepped in to speed up to an industrial production basis what nature takes years to do.

The new company will operate on a farm owned by Rinker in the Williams Road area. A large grinder and several trucks have been purchased, and various types of waste materials are being built into special compost piles to get the industry started.

Experiments Continue

Minter, who is a local architect, stated he has made a study of the idea and learned that a number of cities have such plants. Many cities have been able to simplify their tasks of garbage removal and disposal by turning over their garbage and refuse to plants of this type.

The process, Rinker declared, produces no odor, and chemicals and natural action which takes place in the process is odorless and will not harbor rats or flies. It is so constructed and handled that even buzzards won't touch it.

Earthworms, which aerate and activate the soil, thrive in it. It retains and helps rebuild the binding quality of good soil. It retains moisture.

Some materials, it has been found in manufacturing the compost, act differently in varied sections of the country. Therefore the operators are now experimenting to find the best and proper combinations and proportions here. They have already produced and used to advantage a considerable quantity of compost.

Control Is Necessary

The procedure is to collect desirable waste materials, grind and pulverize this material to a proper size, mix various materials together, pile it in various spaced piles, and add a catalytic agent which starts the process.

Heat is generated in the compost piles very rapidly, and temperatures are watched and controlled carefully so there is no burning.

The heat discourages rats and vermin, destroys the seeds and harmful bacteria, and produces the proper environment for nature to work its fastest and best.

The exact temperature, Minter and Rinker explained, is important. Aeration and moisture are also important. And as the process is developed, production will be increased.

Minter and Rinker hope the new industry can be developed to a point where at least 50 men can be employed.

Beauty Expert

Felix Foote Sr. of Lonaconing is shown in his "garden" at Central Elementary School, which he transformed from a bare spot of hard earth to a beautiful bed of flowers, containing 500 plants of 21 different varieties. Foote, a former miner, is custodian of the Lonaconing school and six years ago sought to do something about beautifying the grounds around the school.

Custodian Turns Gardener To Beautify School Grounds

By TED TROXELL
News Staff Writer

What for many years was nothing more than a trampled-down patch of bare ground has been transformed into a garden spot of grass and flowers through the untiring efforts of Felix Foote Sr., who resides on Watercliffe Street in Lonaconing.

Foote, who was employed as a miner by the Consolidated Coal Company for 46 years, has worked as a janitor at Central Elementary School (formerly Central High School) since January 14, 1945, and it is here that his beautification project has been put into use.

Central High School was built in 1911, but until 1948, when Foote first conceived of the idea of "prettying up" the grounds, the area in front of the school was a virtual dust bowl, used mainly by the students as a short cut to the main entrance of the building.

Foote realized that the task of improving the appearance of the grounds surrounding the school would be a long and arduous one, but with the help of some of the school's student manpower, the area was refilled with topsoil, resodded and planted with clover and hayseed.

Damp cloths were then placed over the ground to nurse the newly-planted area through its first stages.

After three years, Foote's dreams became reality as the area became Botanical Gardens in miniature. Today, there are about 500 plants and 21 varieties of flowers in Foote's garden.

The plants were donated by different citizens of Lonaconing, including Alice McCormick, William Duckworth, Phillips Florists, and the proud gardener himself.

One of the reasons for the success of Foote's project was the cooperation of the students themselves. They were cooperative about staying off the lawn.

Foote can be seen each morning at the garden watering it and caring for it. He explained that since the garden area is situated on the foundation of the school building, it is necessary to water it regularly, as drying out occurs more rapidly than it would under normal conditions.

At the present time, the prize plants in Foote's garden are the improved coxcomb, a large, red bushy plant, and a bed of lilies, which is just beginning to reach its prettiest stage.

National Guard Is Praised For Encampment Opening

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., July 27 (AP)—National Guard troops of the 29th Infantry Division won praise today for the start of their annual two-weeks summer encampment.

Col. William H. Spicer, director of training for the encampment, said that army inspectors had been impressed at the success of the motor movement of the citizen-soldiers from the states of Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia.

"The motor march was outstanding, in fact it was much better than I expected," Spicer said.

The fact that some 1,500 military vehicles had made the march, some of them from as far south as Norfolk, Va., without one serious accident or anyone being injured was a noteworthy achievement, he added.

During the first day of inspection, half of the division was given either superior or excellent rating, Spicer said.

Some 6,500 men arrived at this huge military reservation in the central Pennsylvania mountain area last Saturday and Sunday. They are commanded by Maj. Gen. Henry C. Evans, of Baltimore.

The entire 29th Division was adjudged excellent for the discipline and appearance of its personnel while the 192nd Tank Battalion from West Virginia was commended for its fine range operations on Monday.

County Receives $167,381 Refund On Income Taxes

Cumberland's Share Amounts To $47,597

The last installment on more than $167,000 of state income taxes came rolling back into Allegany County in the past week as the state finished redistributing big chunks of tax money paid by Marylanders during the last fiscal year.

Under the law, 34 per cent of the tax money paid by Maryland residents must be kicked back to the political subdivisions in which they reside.

Taxes paid by people who live outside any town are shared with the county in which they reside. In order to be eligible for a share of the take, a subdivision must levy local taxes high enough to produce revenue of at least a dollar per capita. Some smaller towns don't qualify, and therefore do not share in the redistribution.

In all, $167,381.57 of the income tax money came back to Allegany County. The county itself got the lion's share of this — $104,192.45. Cumberland got $47,597.79.

Baltimore City, where about half of all the people in Maryland reside, got $3,748,606.11, about 40 per cent of the total distributed, which came to $9,326,036.25.

Baltimore County ranked second with distribution of $1,529,077.28, and Montgomery County, its cities and towns, got $1,449,149.19.

The Allegany County breakdown:

Barton	$ 442.06
Cresaptown	357.30
Cumberland	47,597.79
Frostburg	7,729.58
Lonaconing	1,860.63
Luke	1,472.13
